WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Treasury Department is making preparations to put Department is making preparations to put into execution the provision of the tariff law requiring silver and lead ore imported into the United States to be assayed and sampled at the port of entry. Representatives of the lead-producing States, headed by Senator DuBois, made a vigorous fight for this requirement when the tariff bill was before Congress, contending that without this provision it was possible to bring large quantities of lead into the country without requiring the payment of any duty whatever. The original provisions of the tariff bill, providing only for a duty on lead ore where the value of the lead was greater than any other metal in it, were especially objectionable to those who sought protection against Mexican importations.

who sought protection against Mexican importations.

The bill was amended in the Senato, and, as it became a law, it provides a duty of % of, 1 cent a pound on all lead ore where combined with silver ores or ores of other metals. The amount of lead is to be ascertained by sampling and assays at the port of entry. The law says the method of sampling and assaying is to be that usually adopted for commercial purposes by the public sampling works in the United States. The assaying and sampling will be let to the lowest responsible bidders at the various ports at which the all rer-lead ore is imported, El Paso, Tex., being the principal one.

NEW ORLEANS, April 5.—A terrible explosion occurred at the corner of Deexplosion occurred at the corner of De-catur and Ursuline streets this morning about 2 o'clock. The ship-chandler's store of Charles Salaunthe and the adjoining saloon, the Fisherman's Exchangs, con-ducted by Charles L. Salaunthe, were com-pletely demolished. Fire broke out im-mediately after the explosion. It occurred in the ship-chandler's store in which a quantity of powder and shot have always been kent on hand. The front and side quantity of powder and snot have asways been kept on hand. The front and side walls of the two buildings were entirely blown out, but the rear partitions were left etanding, showing that the explosion had occurred in the front part of the

The number of dead is not known. At least half a dozen were sleeping in the building at the time and are buried beneath the debris, and it is feared that they have been either crushed to death for will be burned to a crisp before the fremen can resue them. At the hour of the explosion the street in front was beginning to fill up with market people. A number of wagons were on Decatur street and the sidewalk; in the market exmall knots of men were getting out their goods and delivering their daily supplies.

Their trade was cut short by a muffled sound that came from across the street and, as they turned, expecting an explosion, the walls lifted and came down with a crash on all eldes. The force of the explosion was terrible. Drivers were hursel from their vehicles and the wares on the market-stands were blown to the four winds. The explosion, as near as the market people can tell, occurred about ten minutes after 2 o'clock. In Salathe's grocery and bar-room, a two-story building, two doors from the corner, Salathe and the write and one child are supposed to have been killed. His badroom was directly over powder and he has not been seen since. One of his children emerged from the ruins in his night-elothes after the engines had been at work on the flames about five minutes, to the surprise of everybody. It was reported that welve people are known to be buried under the ruins of the two buildings that collapsed.

Sprinters, bricks, pleess of timber and other material was people on the market, damaging that; and the windows in Sarrasin's tobacco factory, adjoining, were shattered. More than six men who were in the streets were slightly injured by flying particles. Entile Boulet, the owner of the bar-room, had stopped across the streets. Emile Boulet, the owner of the bar-room, had stepped across the street for a moment and was in the market when the explosion occurred thus raving his own life. There were sleeping apartments over the saloon, in which a number of people were supposed to be resting for the night, as it was a sort of lodging-house. The cause of the explosion is unknown. The owner of the grocery store where it occurred was Charles L. Salanthe. He kept a large quantity of powder, which he sold to fishermen and hunters. Charles Sa lanthe, the groceryman, is lost in the ruins, together with his wife, a ten-months'-old boy, three servants, a clerk and an orphan boy.

Two of the children of the grocesyman were miraculously saved. One, a little girl named Ellie, was found in the debris in a different section of the ruins from her brother Eddie. Both children were slightly scratched. They were not buried under the ruins, although they were sleeping in different parts of the building. Eddie was in a back room, while his mother, father and the little ones were sleeping in the room in front. No noise could be heard of the wounded under the debris, and the supposition is that they are dead. The estimated number of dead at 4 o'clock is fifteen.

A LATER OPINION.

NEW ORLEANS, April 5.—About 1 o'clock this morning an explosion from some unknown cause occurred at the corner of Decatur and Ursuline streets in a two-story brick building containing two stores on the ground. One of these was occupied by Emile Boulet as a drinking-saloon, the other by Charles Salath as a grocery and ship-chandlery. The building was near the lower French market and was separated from it by a narrow street. Little tongues of fames shot from the debris by the time the oniookers had recovered from the shock and sat about thinking of some means of rescue for the unfortunates whom they knew were imprisoned in that smoking mass of brick and times. those of Charles Salath and wife. At daylight the work of removing the ruins began. The police were compelled to use force to keep the crowd away. The bodies of Felix Rigot and James Edwards, employees of a fish stand in the market, were found. It was ascertained that Edwards went to the saloon a few minutes before the explosion, with a basket of shrimps. While the police are inclined to believe the explosion was the result of accident, people reaiding in the vicinity of the wrecked building are of an entirely different opinion. They state openly that the explosion was an attempt to kill Boulet, and that he had a miraculous escape.

Boulet, and that he had a miraculous escape.

Boulet is a Frenchman who two years ago shot and killed one of the wealthlest men doing business near the French market. This man, Ariesten Balestraci, and Boulet were in the saloon business together. Boulet's wife contracted a liason with Balestraci which sussed Boulet to leave her. Balestraci would taunt Boulet with disbooor, but was always surrounded by friends when doing so. Two years ago they met in the French market and Balestraci, who was carrying a cane, drew from its sheath a large sword with which he attacked Boulet. The latter drew a reits sheath a large sword with which he attacked Boulet. The latter drew a revolver and fired and killed the Italian. The trial resulted in Boulet's acquital. Ever since then Boulet has been looked upon as a marked man. His friends tried to persuade him to leave the city, or at least stay away from the market, but he refused to do so. Last night he occupied a room in the bar-room on the second floor, and it is believed the explosion was done for the simple purpose of killing him. Balestraci was the leader of the Italian colony and just the sort of a man to be at the head of the Mafia. The dead so far as recovered are:

C. H. Whitty, collector of the French market, was standing on the corner opposite the saloon when the explosion took place. He was in the habit of going to the saloon often during the night to chat with the barkeeper whom he knew very well, but had just walked across from the market to the corner when the explosion occurred. He said it was accompanied by a terrific sound, apparently half-smothered, as if blown up from the bottom of the biudding. The edifice trembled, and then went up with a tremendous convulsion, thrownig parts of the building, high in the air, tearing down the Ursulinostreet wall and part of the Decatur-street wall, and leaving the greater part of the wall standing in the rear of the building. Whitty eays that it went up like a mighty flash and the explosion was followed by a big blaze that went high into the air and then subsided somewhat. The walls and debris came down with a crash and immediately the air was full of smoke and dust, blown everywhere from the grocery store. Immediately people rushed to the place of the explosion from every direction.

The people in the two buildings were as follows: K. C. Salanthe, over the grocery store, with his wife and four chiffden; two of the latter were saved; Felix Rigot, a barkeeper; an eighteen-pear-old boy, who is missing; Emile Boulet, who slept over the saloon and who escaped; Joseph Grimaldi and Mike Bieri, who frequented the saloon, surposed to be there at the time, and who were missing. When the firemen reached the scene they found the fiames creeping out from all quarters under the debris. Water was pumped on the ruins and a large force of men started to work to clear away the debris where it was supposed the bodies lay. One of the survivors was L. R. Boulet. He says:

"I was sleeping on the second floor of the survivors was L. R. Boulet. He says:

"I was sleeping on the second floor of the surple and a large force of men started to work to clear away the debris where it was a wakened by the ceiling falling on me. I lay still for what to me s house that could have caused the wreck. I believe there are a number of persons in the ruins of the saloon, because it is the custom of a good many to come into the saloon about 12 o'clock and sleep there. I have seen as many as ten and fitteen at one time."

LATEST.—The explosion which wrecked Salathea's ship-chandlery and the Fishermen's Exchange, the adjoining saloon, two landmarks opposite the French Market, resulted in the death of at least five persons. The Salatheas, husband and wife, and their little babe. Paul Rigaud, the barkeeper and John Edwards are the victims whose bodies have been recovered. The Stathea's servants spent the night elsewhere and escaped. The children, who were dragged from the ruins, although badly bruised and shocked, will five. SAN JOSE, April 5 .- (Special Dispatch. Those who arose early this morning saw the ground white with frost. So severe was the cold that it is probable that all th apricots in the Santa Olara Valley, with the exception of those in protected spots, are killed. A vote to adopt the article was carried by 75 to 14, and it now goes to the Committee on Revision. Unless the opposition can muster votes enough to have today's action reconsidered, woman-suffrage in Utah may be considered an accomplished fact.

A largely-attended meeting was held at the operahouse this afternoon to protest against woman-suffrage and another meeting is being held at the Exposition Hall tonight to discuss the question. The opposition has been seeking delay, claiming that numerous petitions against the measure would reach the convention within a few days.

PARIS (III...) April 5.—At Wetzel Station, five miles north of this city, Louis Coleman, a youth 16 years of age, committed suicide by hanging himself from a rafter in the barn. The cause of the act was exceedingly trivial. He had bought a new plow, which he was anxious to try in breaking some sod-ground, but his mother wished him to perform some other task about the house. He compiled with her request, then went to the barn, climbed to a beam in the upper part of the structure and, attaching a rope to a rafter, swung off.

HIS PRIVATE OPINION.

nsul-General Mulligan on Chief Justice Ide. ed Press Leased-wire Service

WASHINGTON, April 5.—In the Samoan correspondence just made public by the State Department, there is a series of letters from James H. Mulligan, United States County of the Stat tes Consul-General to Samoa, which are teresting from their free and easy style interesting from their free and easy style of communication concerning diplomatic affairs. Speaking of Chief Justice Henry 1de, who presides over the court established for Samoa by the three powers, Great Britain, Germany and the United States, he says:

"This so-called chief justice is a very pleasant and agreeable man. Nature has not been iavish with him in her gifts, and he is not up to the guage of Daniel Webster. He is violently impressed with his own importance, and the most melancholy feature about him is that he labors under the impression that he is very smart. He could wipe out eight-tenths of the pending itigations and prospective appeals by a prompt decision of the only real question of the moment that he has ever had before him, which is under the eighth section of Art. III.

He persistently postpones deciding it and all interested in such matters, such as law.

He persistently postpones deciding it and all interested in such matters, such as lawyers and all others except the commissioners, are along with him in it, for a decision would almost certainly mean a greatfalling off of contests and litigation. My notion is that unless he has a personal scheme or ambition behind it, he knew his importance would be lessened like a collapsed balloon if he decided it in the only reasonable way it is capable of decision.

only reasonable way it is capable of decision.

"If the land litigation was once cleared away the powers and public would wake up to the absurdity of labeling an ordinary justice of the peace with the title of chief justice, whose duties would be confined to the trial of an occasional native for hooking bread-fruit. I shall lay before the department in the proper time and way the fact that this Vermont lawyer has actually recommended and secured the enactment of a law depriving the King, who is, I think, at least his equal in ability, of the pardoning power save by his consent. I protest that I have no rupture with Mr. Ide, who has been all courtesy to me, but the grasping, petty ambition is so acute, the humbug is so apparent, that I feel it my duty to convey to your eye alone, for your correct understanding, the impressions of a mere stranger, free from all friction or entanglement."

THE TAYLOR JURY. They are Discharged Amid the Hoots of the Crowd.

of the Crowd.

Lissociated Press Leased-wire Service.

CARROLTON (Mo.,) April 6.—The jury in the Taylor case came into court at 9:30 o'clock this morning and reported that they could not agree. The jury stood seven for conviction to five against. The judge thereupon discharged them.

At 9 o'clock the jury was brought toto the courtroom and Judge Rucker asked: "Gentlemen, is there any prospect that you will agree on a verdict?" "None whatever," replied the foreman, George Fleming. "What do the rest of you say?" asked the Judge. "There is no show whatever," replied several jurymen. "De you stand out as you stood from the first?" asked the Judge, and the jurors replied that the first hallot was seven for conviction and five for acquittal and the result remained unchanged in all future ballots. Judge Rucker ordered the clerk to enter a disagreement and discharged the jury and constnued the case till the next term of court.

As the jurors filed out they were hissed, hooted and reviled by the people who gathered about the courthouse. It is the general opinion that Carroll county has been disgraced by the five jurors who stood out for acquittal.

The jurors who voted from the first for conviction were: J. A. Rose, David Jameson, Adolph Auer, Granville Jenkins, Ellijah Baker, James H. Creeland and W. R. Brammer. The five who stood out for acquittal from the first were: Frank Yehle, Barnett L. Hudson, Ben Glover, George Fleming and J. T. Noland.

As soon as the jury was discharged these five disappeared. It is said by the other jurors that they stole out of town, fearing many violate they mob violence.

Before leaving the juryroom Frank Yehle made each juror promise not to reveal to any one the names of the jurors who voted for acquittal, but when the seven jurors got out and mingled with the people on the streets and learned the state of the public mind, and that unless it was known how the jurors voted each man of the twelve would rest under the suspicion of having been bribed, they told the names of the five.

having been bribed, they told the names of the five.

The jurors who voted for conviction can that Frank Yehle sustained all argument made in the jurycom against conviction and it has developed that George Flemins foreman of the jury, and one of those who voted for acquittal, has a niece who mar ried a cousin of the Taylora. Ben Glover another of the five, is a relative of one of the attorneys for the defense. Stories of bribery are multiplied daily, and it look as if the grand jury will have its hand full when these charges are brought be fore it.

an indictment for criminal libel was obtained in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia on complaint of Frank B, Noyes for the editor of the Sun, and on March 18 a preliminary hearing was held before United States Commissioner Shields. The identity of the defendant was then established. Lawyers Elihu Root, S. B. Clark and Franklin Bartlett are counsel for Mr. Dana. United States District Attorney McFarlane stated the facts in the case and made a formal aplication for a writ of removal against the defendant. While the United States District Attorney was speaking Dana arrived and took a seat within the enclosure beside counsel. Attorney MacFarlane, in a lengthy argument, quoted the law governing the case. He claimed that all crimes or common-law offenses committed in the District of Columbia were against the laws of the United States, and contended that the Supreme Court there had jurisdiction to try this case. MacFarlane consumed thirty minutes in making the application, and, at 2:40 o'clock, Elihu Root began his argument. He claimed that Dana had been arrested in this city on a warrant which showed no offense except on information and belief. No probable cause had been arrested in this city on a warrant and arrest of the defendant. Root said that if the judge decided that the warrant of removal should be issued, such proceedings would be a violation of the fourth amendment to the Constitution of the United States. He also said the fourth amendment was to be considered in conjunction with the fifth amendment.

CINCINNATI, April 5.—"Neither of the great political parties can afford to ignore the silver issue in the next Presidential campaign. It will overshadow the tariff and cost it into the background."

This decisive statement was made by President Andrews of Brown University. Mr. ident Andrews of Brown University. Mr. Andrews was one of the representatives of the United States in the last monetary conference, and prefaced his conversation by the statement: "I vote as I think."

"Do you think the Republicans will be forced to declare for free silver to catch the Western States?" asked the reporter.

"No, indeed," was the reply, "but they must make some concessions to silver. They must pledge themselves to strive for an international agreement, or, perhaps, even promise more than that. I do not think the time has come for this country to take the initiative to restore silver at a given ratio to gold."

"There is no use trying to suppress the issue in the West," continued the profession.

"There is no use trying to suppress the issue in the West," continued the professor. "It should be met half way. Thinking people want binnetallism, with an international agreement, if possible, but they don't believe in waiting forever. Neithed do I. But independent action should be delayed until all sides point to an intimation of our course by other nations." "What would be the result of free coin age now?"

"What would be the result of free coinage now?"

"The immediate result would be a tremendous revival of business and restoration of depressed values. Money hoarded in banks would be turned loose. We should wrest from Europe most of the trade with silver countries. Our factories would be worked to their full capacity. All of our gold would pass to Europe, but we would not need it, and if our example were followed by Europe, we would never have any backset over it. I hear Western people calking of the erime of 1873. I don't think eny of the members of Congress were criminal in their action, but I do think they made a terrible mistake, and we have suffered from it ever since."

HAS SURVIVED ITS SLANDERERS NEW YORK, April 5.—John F. Harman, of the firm of Harry & Harman, when asked his opinion as to the future of silver, asked his opinion as to the future of stiver, replied:

"While I think that the present rise in silver was largely due to the talk of peace between China and Japan, I do not think that the question of indemnity has been such an important factor as some people profess to believe. No matter what method is adopted in the payment by China to Japan of an indemnity, I sm not inclined to think that it will have any streat effect upon the demand for silver.

"The proposal of a German monetary conference has undoubtedly had the effect of stimulating the demand for silver to some extent, but of the future of that metal is is not possible to predict. Silver has survived its slanderers, and I look to the future with confidence."

THE WHITE METAL PARTY,

WASHINGTON, April 5.—A conference of the three leaders of the new silver party was held in this city last evening. Among was near in the city and evening. Among those present were ex-Congressman Sibley, Judge Joseph Sharon of Connecticut, Senator Jones of Nevada, Gen. Warner, Senator Stewart and Congressman Newlands. At the close of the conference Senator Jones, with Sibley and Newlands, left for New York, where they are to hold another conference concerning the welfare of the new party.

SENATOR STEWART ON THE PROS-PECT.

SALT LAKE, April 5.—A special from Washington to the Herald says that in the silver conference today Judge Sheldon of Connecticut represented to the conference that there is a large element in his State favorable to silver.

The silver leaders will wage an aggressive campaign from this time on.

"We are bound to win if we unite." said Semator Stewart tonight. "It is only through division of the silver men that the gold element hopes to maintain its supremacy. The impossibility of converting the gold leaders of the two old parties to bimetallism is becoming more apparent every day. Last year free-coinage Republicans of the West thought they had converted Mr. Reed. Now they confess. publicans of the West thought they had converted Mr. Reed. Now they comfess his vote for gold bonds has forced them to give him up. Then they centered their fond hopes on McKinley, but now he has deserted them. The skill of Harrison in praise-making to satisfy both sides is about exhausted. The fact is that each party relies upon the misconduct of the other, but there is going to be another element in the next campaign for the people are tired of both old parties and disgusted with their shortcomings."

The inference drawn from Senator Stewart's interview is that he is unwilling to trust either of the old parties even though their platforms should recognize the silver sentiment and that he favors a third-party candidate for 1896.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Lieut Commander Drake, who was in command of the U.S.S. Albatross during her last cruise in the Arctic, in a lecture before the Y.M.C.A. on the recent developments in

Bering Sea, said:

"I have made a calculation, and I find that it cost Uncle Sam last year just $107 per akin to protect, as I think, Canadian scalers. My experience with the scale overthrows everything I have read on the subject, and has taught me that the scale is anything but an intelligent animal and merely follows certain animal trustincts. The warm current flowing into the Bering Sea meeting the cold current from the north forces the food on which the animals subsist to the surface. This food als subsist to the surface. This food asists of cod, halibut, salmon and other ads of fish. This explains why seals are theory that seals live only on sounds. Seals are seen passing outside the hibitive zone of the Pribyloffs and going

It is the opinion of all sealers that a better system could not be devised for the speedy extermination of the seal than the adoption of the present laws. Prof. Knowiton says that she has no claim to the name of Beggs, yet young Beggs fears that she has. The professor is disposed to deplore the course Beggs has taken in the matter, declaring formal action for annulment to be both unneces-sary and abuard. He said last evening:

"Why, the whole thing is a farce. The Bithel merely signed it for amusement.

Young Durbrow drew the paper up, and if the contracting parties had been in earnest and really wanted to be married the paper would not have stood in law. It is not even legal enough for a contract marriage. Young Durbrow thought he knew all about drawing up such papers and wanted to show how smart he could be.
I've been around consulting the best lawyers and judges in town, and they all laugh at the idea of such a document being able to pass muster in any court. My anything but purely friendly relations.

Then the professor talked at some length on the chivalry of the South. "I would like to be living there now," he said. "You know it doesn't take long to settle such things in Dixie land. It is three months since I was in New York in consultation with other members, and I do not know what may have transpired since as the base of operations is there. I am one of the original thirteen incorporators of the company. It is organized on the same lines as the Bell Telephone Company. It will reall instruments and the right to use its patents to compunes organized in the different States and Territories."

"Decidedly; we organized to do business and refer will be meanted by the states."

"Decidedly; we organized to do business, and rates will be materially reduced, as we intend to encourage the more general use of the telephone by business people as well as in homes. This company is crganized by financial men of the highest standing in the country, and when they are ready to begin business they are going to do it. They will begin just as soon as they have all details in proper shape. Work is being delayed to give them the opportunity to perfect some of their latest patents. STOLE THE GOLD.

secolated Press Leased-wire Service.

CARSON (Nev.,) April 5.—Superint weeks. He has already discovered short-ages that approximate $90,000, and all the suspicious points have not yet been ex-amined. The town is full of secret service officials and learning the history of their recent extravagant habita. None of those suspected can escape.

The greatest steal yet discovered in one melt was unearthed by Superintendent Mason a few days ago. He found that one run or melt which purported to contain 2300 ounces, half gold, half silver, had but forty ounces of gold. The shortage on this fraudulent melt therefore was about $22,000.

The principal man under suspicion is Assistant Melter and Reflier John Jones, who has been in office under Hirsch Harris, and who came to him as a holdover from the Harrison administration. The detectives are at work on Jones's record and they claim to have discovered that he has been spending $500 to $500 a month on an income of $125. He was first suspected by Hirsch Harris. Harris relied largely on Jones, the practical man in the department, but grew very suspicious when bars that ought to have come out with a large percentage of gold were returned nearly pure silver. He reported the shortage to ex-Gov. Jewett Adams, superintendent of the mint. The shortage was immediately reported to R. E. Preston, superintendent of the mint at Washington and Expert. Assayer Mason was forthwith dispatched here to investigate. The crimes were committed by the substitution of bars, and it is known that the frauds extend over a period of five or six years.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The mint and secret service officials are reticent regarding the defalcations at the Carson mint. It is learned, however, that up to this time shortages of gold have been discovered aggregating 4072 ounces, which is equal to $80,000. In nearly all cases the gold was abstracted during the process of melting hars and false weights of gold contained therein were marked on them. The gold thus secured was sold at banks at different points west from Carson, a considerable quantity being disposed of at San Francisco. Most of the abstractions, it is said, took place in 1891 and 1892, but small amounts have—been taken within the last two years. Important arrests are expected soon.

He was convicted of murie agentenced to be hanged. While undesentence of death and in jail here his sentence of death and in jail here his wife, who is the daughter of a prominent Sonoma county farmer, was married to him. The ceremony took place in jail and was performed by a justice of the peace. Bruggy was sentenced to be hanged, but escaped before the date set for his execution. He was re-captured and the time of his execution set for July 30, 1892. His wife was unremitting in her devotion and pleaded with Gov. Markham a number of times to save him. She spent much time and money in securing petitions for commutation of his sentence, and never gave up hope.

Bruggy had the day for his hanging twice set after he was reprieved, but each time was saved by technicalities. Just before a final decision in the McNulty case was reached he escaped from jail here. This was in January, 1894, and nothing has been heard of him since. Many believed his wife knew of his whereabouts all the time, but her suit for divorce puts a new phase on the matter.

THE CODE COMMISSION. The Rush to Get a Place—A Populist

Associatea Press Leased-wire Service SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Arduous as the task of revising, systematizing and reforming the laws of California may seem to be, Gov. Budd has reason to wish it were a little harder. As it is, no less than 150 lawyers are willing to try, and the returns are not all in yet. The law creating a code commission requires the appointments to be made within ten days creating a code commission requires the appointments to be made within ten days after its passage, so that 147 applicants will be relieved of their suspense and be enabled to resume practice tomorrow. A question has been raised as to the meaning of the law. It provides that "a nonpartisan commission, consisting of three persons" shall be created and that the members of this commission "shall not belong to the same political party."

Members of the old parties hold that this permits the Governor to appoint two Democrats and one Republican, but the Populists maintain that the commission would not be truly non-partisan and that the spirit, if not the letter of the law, requires the appointment of one Democrat, one Republican and one Populist. Acting on this theory, they are actively working for their candidate, J. R. Weish of San Jose.

san Francisco, April 5. - Fritz Starke, an able seaman, came in from a cruise a few days ago with $450 due him, and a determination to stay ashore the remainder of his days. He found a congenial crowd in a Davis-street saloon, and to its members he announced his intention of "going into business." There was a wild rush to reach the mariner as soon as he told the story of his ability to buy a small saloon or lodging-house. In a trice he was piloted to a saloon in the basement of B'nai-B'rith Hall, on Eddy street, where he was introduced to J. Frits Dawarts and Daniel Veeler, who is popularly known as "Young Brady."

They had a place that would suit Starke, so they said, and in a few hours he was the ostensible owner of a basement salcon at No. 119 Eddy street. They gave a bill of sale on receipt of the sallor's $450. Stark soon ascertained that the salcon had neither license, stock, patronage nor fitle to anything but a few vases, etc. The bar fixtures and pool tables belonged to a wholesale house. A warrant for obtaining money under false pretenses has been issued for the sharpers.

SAN DIEGO, April 5.—The case of the three Americans, Joseph C. S. Carter, William Carney and D. A. Moore, who were arrested during the latter part of January by Mexican officials on the charge of smuggling horses over the border and were imprisoned at Ensenada, seems from all accounts to be in a more unsettled state than ever. Hon. W. B. Gwers, Representative from the Seventh Congress District, bought the matter before the State Department with the result that the men, after examination, were ordered released, their stock returned to them and they left to use their own discretion about returning to the United States territory with their possessions.

The men, however, give an entirely different version of the result of their trial, stating that they were still virtually prisoners, their stock still withheld from them, and themselves forbidden to quit Mexican territory. They claim that local officials are using discretionary powers not warranted by government orders, and ask that the State Department give the case immediate consideration.

A Queer Decision

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The jury in the case of Strikers Mayne and Cassady charged in the United States court with conspiracy in obstructing the United States mails, reported this morning that they would probably be unable to agree before Saturday.

Frost in Santa Clara Valley SAN JOSE, April 5.—A heavy and severe frost landed here last night. The frost was outle general throughout the valley. Wherever it fell, apricots are said to have been killed. Some peaches were killed, but prunes were not hurt. A severe frost is expected again tonight.

The Tribune has the following from its Washington correspondent:

The United States Supreme Court has shot the income tax full of holes. The decision has been completed and put in type, and only awaits formal ratification at the consultation to be held at moon tomorrow. The decision of the lower court is reversed. The income tax as a whole is upheld, but only by a divided court. Two important portions of the law, however, have been decided to be unconstitutional, and they are so serious as to affect materially not only the revenues of the government, but the estimation in which materially not only the revenues of the government, but the estimation in which the income tax will be held by the people. Under the decision to be handed down by the court, probably next Monday, but possibly later, all incomes derived from rents are exempted from taxation by the Federal government, and all incomes derived from State and municipal bonds are similarly exempted.

In other respects the income tax law stands as it was passed last August, but stands as it was passed last August, the result of the consultations in the the result of the consultations in the Supreme Court shows very conclusively that the law can easily be picked to pieces piecemeal, provided that there is brought to the contest each particular point as it comes up. It is a curious fact, but none the less true, that the law, which was passed at the dictation of the Populistic wing of the Democratic Congress, has been distorted by the decision of the United States Supreme Court, clearly on constitutional grounds, in such a way that it will absolutely protect the class of capitalists controlled the control of the Populistic element. The landlords of the country will pay n income tax. The owners of bonds of almost any kind, either Federal or State, county or municipal, will also be free, while bus-

States government 2 per cent. of all comes in excess of $4000 per annum. The holes made in the income-tax law are so fatal as to necessitate either its reare so fatal as to necessitate either its repeal or its amendment, as the people of the country will hardly care to see large capitalists and trust companies absolutely protected, while poor men, comparatively speaking, are forced to contribute to run the national government. The court has been in hot water during all the time of making the decision, and it was not until yesterday that the last point was decided.
The decision has been completed and is already in type. eady in type.

When the first vote was taken as to the general constitutionality of the law of Congress taxing incomes, it was found the court was evenly divided. Only eights justices heard the arguments, justice Jackson being too ill to appear in court. The vote disclosed the fact that Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field Gray and Reverse was and Justices Field, Gray and Brewer wer d to the law in toto. They believed opposed to the law in toto. They believed that it was unconstitutional as passed by Congress, and that it was a direct tax, which, according to the Constitution, must be levied among the States according to population as returned by the census.

Death of the Well-known San Fran-ed Press Leased-wire Service SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.-Joseph A. Donohue, the pioneer banker, died tonight. He was senior member of the firm of Donohoe-Keily Banking Company.

Mr. Donohoe occupied a prominent position in the business community of San Francisco for many years. He engaged in mercantile pursuits in San Francisco in the palmy days of the gold rush and has been closely identified with the proshas been closely identified with the pros-perity of San Francisco ever since. He gave his personal attention, during the greater part of that time to the affairs of his banking business and his real es-tate possessions, which latter increased with the rapid accumulation of his wealth, until they now include some of the most valuable pieces of realty in the

the most valuable pieces of realty in the city.

Donohoe was born in Ireland sixty-nine years ago. He came to America early in life and before he had arrived at man's estate proceeded to the accumulation of the large fortune which he now leaves as a legacy to his children. In 1846, when only 20 years of age, he became associated in business with Eugene Kelly, who remained his partner and business associated in various projects and enterprises for only 20 years of age, he became associated in business with Eugene Kelly, who remained his partner and business associate in various projects and enterprises for nearly half a century. In the year mentioned Donohoe left New York and went to St. Louis, where Kelly was engaged in business with his brother. The firm shared largely in the Santa Fe trade as it was then called. Three years later Mr. Kelly and Mr. Donohoe started West across the plains, arriving here in 1850. The dry goods house of Eugene Kelly & Co., was started, with Eugene Kelly, Joseph A. Donohoe, Adam Grant and Daniel Murphy as co-partners in the coacern. This partnership continued until 's61, when Kelly and Donohoe ratired and associated themselves with the late W. C. Raiston & Co. Murphy and Grant continued in the dry goods business under the firm name of Murphy, Grant & Co.

In 1864 the firm of Donohue, Raiston & Co. was dissolved, and was succeeded by the firm of Donohue, Kelly & Co., which continued until the incorporation of the bank March, 1891, under the rame of the Donohue-Kelly Banking Company.

The deceased leaves a widow and three children. The children are J.seph A. Donohue, Jr., the eidest of two sons, who married a daughter of Mrs. A. M. Parrott and fills the position of assistant cashier in the bank; Edward Donohue and Mrs. John Parrott. He leaves a valuable estate, which includes, in addition to his banking interests, a half interest in the Occidental hotel property, the Defoe Block on Market street, the family residence at No. 523 Harrison street, a beautiful summer residence at Menio Park and a number of other pieces of valuable property.

THE VENEZUELA CONCESSION. Mayor Grant of Faribault Denies the Claims of England.

tive of the Journal, who visited Mayor Grant of Faribault, Minn., a few days ago Grant of Faribault, Minn., a few days ago, obtained interesting information about the treaty concessions about the mouth of the Orinoco River, in Venezuela, which Grant and his associates have secured. Grant denies with considerable vigor the assertions made in Washington that the concession is in any way involved in the intermedicinal compilications between Venezuela. cession is in any way involved in the international complications between Venezuela and England. Nearly all of the land which is granted to the syndicate to be improved and colonized, has always belonged to Venezuela, and has never been claimed by England. Grant admitted, however, that a small corner of the concession had been settled on by the English, but it was least valuable and no trouble would arise out of the fact. He adds that the concession is really eleven years old, having been granted to J. A. Bowman in 1884, who has been interested in it with Austin Corbin.

Austin Coroin.

After some work had been done in improving the privileges geanted, the Jevolution broke out which finally put Crespo in power and nothing was done. The trip which Grant with Bowman and W. H. Fisher has just taken was to have the concession confirmed and the divergent interests harmonized. In this they were successful, and expect to improve their privileges, if the talk about international complications or a war with England does not interfers. The concession includes valuable iron mines, great forests of mahogany, rosewood, and an island at the mouth of the Orinoco in which there are valuable asphalt wells. It is also believed that there is gold in paying quantities. The Venezuelan Congress adjourns June 15, and Grant expects to go there again before that date to close up the negotiations. After some work had been done in im-

Mr. Cleveland Approves the Moifica-tion of Civil Service Rules. ssociated Fress Leased-wire Service.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—President Cleveland has approved the amendment to the civil service regulations, relating to the employment of teachers in Indian schools. It reads: "Graduates of Indian normal schools and or normal classes of Indian schools may be employed in the Indian-schools as assistant teachers or day-school teachers without further examination, provided certification of satisfactory proficiency, of good noral character and of physical soundness, signed by the proper officials, be transmitted at the time of appointment to the civil service commission, and provided further, that until the list of July, 1306, graduates of the scniar classes of Carlisle, Hampton, Lincoln Institute, Cholienco, Haskell Institute and other Indian schools of equal grade may be included in or normal classes of Indian schools may be the provisions of this rule. Such teachers shall become eligible for promotion to advanced positions on presentation to the Civil Service Commission of satisfactory certificates of efficiency and fidelity in their work, and of a progressive spirit in the personal interests, signed by their immediate officials and by the superintendent of Indian schools, and followed with his approval by the Secretary of the Interior, the committee reserving to itself the right to decide as to the satisfactoriness of such certificates."

HAWAIIAN TRADE.

California Wine and Beer are Largely Imported.

eral Ellis G. Mills at Honolulu has sub-mitted a report to the State Department on the imports of spirits, wine and beer into the Hawaiian Islands. It has been reported that the imports into these lands of California wines had been fall lands of California wines had been failing off and their places taken by saki, made in Japan from rice, grain and grapes.

Mills finds this untrue, the increased quantity imported having been enormous, over $3,000, gallons, being, brought, in in 1894, as against only 3400 gallons in 1833. For the same years, however, the importations of California wines have increased from 103,000 to 125,000 gallons. Beer shows an increase of nearly 14,000 gallons.

Take thou this rose, O Rose! the loves in the rose repose;
I with love of the rose am caught at the winter's close;
Take thou this flower, my flower, and cherish it in thy bower;
Thou in thy beauty's power shalt lovelier blow each hour;
Gaze at the rose, and smile, my Rose, at mine eyes the while;
To thee the roses belong, thy voice is the nightingale's song;
Give thou the rose a kiss, it blushes like thy mount's bliss;
Flowers in a picture seem not flowers, but flowers in a dream;
Who paints the rose's bloom paints not the rose's perfume.

NOTE.—THE TIMES is a seven-day paper. The above aggregate, viz., 102,505 copies, issued by us during the seven days of the passweek would, if apportioned on the basis of a six-day evening paper, give a daily average circulation for each week-day of 17,084 copies.

THE TIMES is the only Los Angeles paper which has regularly published sworn statements of its circulation, both gross and net, weekly, monthly and yearly, during the past several years. Advertisers have the right to know the NET CIRCULATION of the medium which seeks their business, and this THE TIMES gives them correctly, from time to time.

The gross daily average circulation of THE TIMES for January, 1805—14,657 copies, shows a gain of 118-3 per cout, over the daily average—6713 copies—for the month of August, 1890, the month of "The strike that failed."

BUSINESS

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

The fruit exchange officials are still resting on their oars, so far as the seedling trade is concerned. Their withdrawal of quotations on seedlings does not mean that they have gone out of business for that variety of fruit. As a matter of fact, they are strictly in it, and are placing seedlings wherever there is a market. Competition by outside Cakifornia shippers and foreign fruit simply made it impossible to keep up exchange prices for seedlings. They now propose to sell for what they can get, underbidding competitors where necessary, but in no case will they ship fruit on consignment.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

San Diego will hold a lemon fair next week. This will be about the first distinctively lemon exhibition held in the United States. San Diego county is a matural habitat of the lemon. Her lemon groves exceed her orange groves in point of acreage about three to one. San Diego lemons, though perhaps no better than lemons grown in other portions of Southern Cabitornia, are becoming an important item in the commercial world. San Diego lemons—Southern California lemons in fact—wherever introduced are holding their own with foreign Irult. They have practically driven foreign lemons out of the Pacific Coast market, and are gaining a firm foothold in the East. And why should they not?

driven foreign lemons out of the Pacinic Coast market, and are gaining a firm footchold in the East. And why should they not?

Imported lemons nearly all come from the Mediterranean countries, whose in tabitants, that, is, the peasantry who handle the fruit, are proverbial for their filth. Cholera and other germ diseases are more or less prevalent there, and there is no better way of transmitting disease germs to other countries than by the exportation of fruit. The frequent sporadic cases of cholera that occur in the United States during the aummer months can be truced directly to imported lemons. Many people in making lemonade do not remove the rind of the lemons, and thus it disease germs adhere to the fruit they will be transferred to the human stomach. Persons who use California lemons do not run the risk users of imported lemons do, and if this fact were more generally known less foreign and more California fruit would be used.

The San Diego lemon fair will doubtless serve as a good advertisement, and should be well patronized.

The manufacture of chamols skin must go on the list of new industries established in Los Angeles. A local wool-pulling firm recently began experiments in this direction, with such satisfactory results as to justify embarking in the business on a large scale. Lamb pelts are plenty herefalouts and dirt cheap. The process of heating them so as to make good chamols skin is very simple. The demand for the finished article is good and prevailing prices are such as should make the business profitable.

Time was when bhamols skin was chamols skin, and it was thought there was nothing that would make a fair substitute for it. The skin of the chamols was chamols skin become rarer and higher in price it was discovered that the skin of lambs and kids could be converted into a soft leather not unlike the ganuine dressed chamols skin become rarer and higher in price it was discovered that the skin of lambs and kids could be converted into a soft leather not unlike the ganuine dressed chamols s

The Cincinnati Merchant Sentinel has this to say of our State: "It has been demonstrated beyond question that California is destined, within a few years, to become the greatest producing courter. demonstrated beyond question that California is destined, within a few years, to become the greatest producing country for fine fruits, wine and honey the world has ever known. It is only within the past ten or fifteen years that special attention has ever known. It is only within the past ten or fifteen years that special attention has ever known. It is only within the past ten or fifteen years that special attention has been given to the cultivation of fruits in California on an extended scale, and as a special business. The general failure of all kinds of fruit in all other. States of the Union has enabled California fruit-growers to find a ready market for every pound of her fruits agood prices, and the total receipts from that source reaches annually up into millions of adollars. But even when there is no failure of fruit in the Western, Middle and Eastern States, there is always a demand and ready sales for California fruits at remunerative prices; for nowhere else can fruits of almost every kind be produced in such variety, perfection and abundance, the apple alone excepted. Nearly all the tropical fruits, as well as those produced in other parts of the Union—the pear, peach, grape, etc., attain a size and perfection in California unknown elesewhere, and with the prezent and improving means of rapid transportation in refrigerator cars and extensive canning and curing of fruits there is no probability of the markets of the world becoming overstocked, or the fruit going to waste."

Articles of incorporation were filed with the County Clerk yesterday by the Far formed for the purpose of prospecting, searching, locating, boring, mining and other kindred substances, etc. Capital stock, $50,000; fully subscribed. Board of directors: Lyman Stewart, W. L. Hardison, John Irwin, Alex Waldle and Thomas R. Bard.

The American Cultivator says: "Unexpectedly the demand in England for American apples keeps up later this season than usual. Buyers have hunted up dealrable parcels in New England and Canada, and even the pest week 1108 barrels of apples were shipped from Boston to Liverpool, and 5863 barrels from Portland to Liverpool, and 5863 barrels from Portland to Liverpool, and 5863 barrels from Portland to Liverpool, and total of 6966 barrels. Of the above from Portland to Liverpool 4198 barrels were Canadian and 1685 barrels were Canadian and 1685 barrels were Waine. Very fair returns continue to be received on these export apples. Last week New York city exported 1233 barrels apples. Exports from there have been 27,938 barrels since January 1, against only 5374 barrels exported for same time last year. "The exports to date of apples during the season of 1894-95 agreate 1,442,592 barrels, against only 168,706 barrels during the season of 1894-95 agreate 1,442,592 barrels, against only 168,706 barrels during the previous season in 1833-4. The banner season in the cappet apple trade was that of 1891-92, when as was the case this season, the transstlantic apple trade was that of 1891-92 when as was the case this season, the transstlantic apple crop tabled. In that season 1,450,336 barrels of apples were shipped abroad, as follows:

Prom New York, 137,247; Boston, 233,954; Montreal, 220,427; Portland, 163,145; Halifax, 87,379; Philadelphia, 550; Battimore, 72; Newport News, 1337; Norfolk, 315. The export season usually begins about August 15 and ends about April 15. The total quantity of apples shipped in the season of 1891-82 is now only 3735 barrels more than have been shipped thus far this season. And when all the returns are in for this season it will probably beet all previous records."

THE MINISTRY AND DEBSISM.

LOS ANGELES, April 5, 1884.—(To the Editor of The Times.) Why have not the ministers of the gospel in this city taken up and discussed the subject of Debsism? Are not the churches the conservators of "peace on earth, good-will toward men;" of law and order as well as of religion and good morals? And is not Debsism and good morals? And is not Debsism apposed to all these? Are the clerymen and good morals? And is not Debsism

RACE PREJUDICE.

Race prejudice is not yet dead in the South. It takes more than a gen-eration to make the haughty Southron willing to dismiss his former feeling of prejudice against the negro sufficiently to accept the colored man as an equa and a brother. Old traditions and sentiments were not all extirpate when slavery was wiped out, and the colored man who helped to save the life of the nation is not regarded south of Mason and Dixon's line as the social equal of the man who fought to destroy it.

That this is the fact was recently evidenced when a committee of the Massachusetts Legislature went South to investigate the causes of the re-moval of New England cotton mills to that section. On that committee was a colored man, Robert Teamoh and when the party arrived at Richmond the Governor of Virginia, not knowing that there was a coloreu man among them, invited the committee to lunch at the Executive Mansion. But when he discovered the fact he showed him ordinary courtesy, but his aristocratic wife withdrew so soon as she became aware that one of the formerly enslaved race was in the parlor. The whole mental equilbrium of this noble Governor of Virginia was destroyed by the terrible incident, and he at once hastened to unbosom himself to Senator Darling, the chairman of the committee, in regard to the episode, in the following language, in a letter which was dispatched to him after the committee's departure from the mansion:

"The time has not come when I would knowingly invite a committee of any kind in which there was a colored man to dine or inneh at my private house or the gubernatorial mansion. While I trust I may never be so unmindful of the dignity of my official station as to treat a legislative committee from another State, what-ever may be their constitution or color, with discourtesy when they are call-ing in their official capacity and I am receiving in my official capacity, yet candor requires me to say that if I had been aware, or it had even been intimated to me, that a colored man was in your party, my attentions would have been much more formal than they were, and you would have been received at my executive office and not my mansion; for I draw the line on the negro at the social circle or anywhere cise that suggests even a semblance of social equality."

Massachusetts naturally resents the way in which her colored represents tive was treated, and the action of the committee, who, out of respect Southern race prejudices, received the agreement of Mr. Teamoh to accept the private hospitalities of the members of his race, while the other members of the committee stopped at hotels, comes in for a goodly share of just censure. The representative jour-nals and intelligent and patriotic citizens of the old Bay State are outspoken in the matter, and ex-Senator Dawes in a recent interview, said:

Dawes in a recent interview, said:

"I have read the accounts of the Southern trip of a committee of the Massachusetts Legislature with a good deal of amazement. If the account is accurate, I shall be greatly striprised if the people of Massachusetts do not hold the committeemen to a strict account, and they may find great difficulty in satisfying the people in a matter of greater importance than any opinion of the safety of Massachusetts dollars in the South.

"One would think from the account

"One would think from the account that all they represented of Massachu-setts was the anxiety of some of her seconda over the fate of her invest setts was the anxiety of some of her invest-ments there. One looks in vain-through the whole account of their trip for the slightest evidence that they supposed they represented Massa-chusetts traditions and principles as well as her dellars. It would seem as that he has been placed in this unpleasant position by reason of his manifestly honorable and manly performance of official duty. As he plainly indicates in an interview, also all the respect to which they themselves were entitled. These selves were entitled. These all the respect to which they them selves were entitled. . . . These men hadn't spirit enough to come home and report that they could not look after the dollars of Massachusetts in any part of this country with the set learning. out leaving at home her principles. Such a report as that would have the of more value to Massachusetts tan any of their ciphering on dividends."

The remarks of the Springfield Republican upon the incident are also powerful and express the spirit of the intelligent and loyal sentiment of the State in regard to the conduct of its time-serving committee. It says:

"Should they (the committee) have insisted that if one member must be tabooed in the South, all must be That might have meant the abandon That might have meant the abandonment of the junket, and could we expect a legislative committee to rise to such virtue? And yet Massachusetts men have made every sacrifice, even of life itself, to promote the freedom and equality of the negro. There was Col. Shaw, who was buried at Fort Wagner under a heap of his niggers, as the chivalry of South Carolina announced at the time, and whose name will live forever along with the fame of the brave soldiers for the Union, the men of dark skins, whom he commanded and led in that historic charge. Just recall the leaders of Massachusetts who met Frederick Douglass on terms of perfect equality and lass on terms of perfect equality and labored to make all men treat him as he deserved to be treated, like a man and a brother—Andrews, Sumner, Wilson, Phillips, and all the rest. The thought of drawing the color line on Robert Teamoh at this stage of progress will not be a pleasant one to the people of Massachusetts."

The principles of a man are not worth much unless be has the courage.

to uphold his convictions, and this is just what these Massachusetts repre-sentatives lacked. What is becoming of the old-time integrity of New En gland and her fearless devotion to the principles which she has espoused? What the country wants at this time is men-men who know the right, and knowing dare maintain it. If we canand to look forward to the semorrows which are to come. old-time courtesy now freely accorded her because of her sex. Indeed, she official trust and power then is the future hopeless indeed. Shall we prove that "republics are ungrateful" which sent many a brave man to his death while battling for the fing that we honor? Shall we forget the debt that we owe our dark-skinned brother sufficiently to permit any portion of the South to treat him with discourthe south to treat him with discour-tesy, on account of the color of his skin, when he is sent to them as a representative of a great—and free State of the American Union? Chicago Democrats attribute their defeat in the recent election to the "mysterious disappearance" of a fund of $500,000, by means of which they had expected to elect their ticket. This is an explanation which doesn't explain very satisfactorily. If the Democrats of Chicago relied upon electing their candidates by such means, they deserve a worse drubbing than they received.

The still, small boom of Grover has been launched, but it is not likely to keep afloat very long. With Cleveland on the Democratic ticket and Debs as the Populist nominee, what a picnic the Republicans would have! Upon such a combination they could even elect Tom Platt.

Truths About Debs.

Truths About Debs.
(Bakersfield Californian;) Business rivals of the Los Angeles Times; prompted solely and entirely by business jealousy of the best and foremost paper south of San Francisco, are indulging in great glee over the so-called "roast" which anarchist and murderer Deba gave it the other evening in a scold, mismanned a lecture. The Times is telling some wholesome truths about Murderer Deba, which every unprojudiced person knows to be truths. Some day their patronage of suarchism will come home with a vengeance to the journalistic supporters of this loud-mouthed fraud, and there will be none who will not say it serves them right, no matter what form that just vengeance may take.

How They Paint and Tattoo Themselves.

Maidens Paint Their Cheeks Red When They are in Love.

The Indian as a "Boiler-down" of Great Newspaper Para-grapher.

SAN DIEGO, April 2.— (Special Correspondence.) It is doubtful if Conan Doyle's ishrewdest detectives were sharper observers than are the Southern Californian and other Indians of this continent. The adornment of their persons with paints and feathers has a peculiar significance in the eyes of Indians. For instance, Indian maidens of Los Angeles county paint their cheeks red when they are in love. Signs and symbols on rocks often reveal a volume of incident to the eye of the dusky warrior.

Sometimes a single, roughly-drawn figuse will tell the history of a band of Indians for a whole season. As short-band

Pictographing in the form of tattooing is to Indian girls and women as dearly loved form of adornment as are the various forms of adornment to a modern civilized married. Other California squaws tattoo in blue three hisrow pinnate leaves perpendicularly on their chins and also lines of small dots on the backs of their handa.

Nearly every Hupa Indian buck has ten lines tattooed across the inside of the left arm, about half way between the wrist and the elbow. In measuring shellmoney it was the custom to take the string in his right hand, draw one end over his left thumb, and, if the other end reached to the uppermost of the tattoo lines the shells were worth $25 in gold.

The Italian saloon-keeper and his wife, at whose house "Old Tommy," which was the only name by which he was known, died, stated that he had been there about a month and a haif, during which he had not paid any board. A pawn ticket in the old man's purse showed that he pawned his watch a few days ago at 306 N. Main street for $11. He had a few dollars left in his pocket. Disappointment at not receiving financial assistance from his son are supposed to have caused him to commit suicide. The Riverside Enterprise says that reports from the East indicate that fruit commission men there are at their old tricks, and orange-growers who have trusted them are being cinched again. The Enterprise adds that "it might be supposed Enterprise adds that "it might be supposed that, in their eagerness to injure the exchange, commission men would resort, this season, to the familiar expedient of throwing a sprat to catch a whale—that they would coddle growers outside the exchanges by making it profitable for them to market their crop in the head old way. bears a striking similarity to that of the ancient inhabitants of Central America. The tatteo marks and carvings of these Indians are believed to be the keys which may unlock the mystery which for so many ages has kept scientists from the knowledge of the origin of the Pacific tribes.

A curiosity in the pictograph line is the census taken by that crafty old Dakota chief, Red Cloud, at the Pine Ridge Indian agency. He indicated the names of animate or inanimate objects. For instance, a buck known as Mr. Scratch-the-Belly was indicated by a human figure with a hand on the stomach. Warrior Old Horse was indicated by the head of (San Francisco Bulletin:) The authorities in England are said to be driven to their wits' end to provide for the 750,000 unemployed on the rolls. The unemployed not on the rolls are the seat of the disease. A little increase in the rates of wages would enable the employed to so increase their purchases as to set the unemployed at work.

(Oakland Tribune:) Joaquin Miller's account of affairs in the Hawalian Islands goes well as fiction. But for some reason matters did not go well with him at the islands. He has done his best to canonize the ex-Queen as an eminent Christian suffering for 'righteousness sake. What a pity that the public never takes an apochryphal story-writer seriously.

(Oakland Enquirer:) A Frenchman who is now visiting this State—Mr. Loubrie, a fruit-packer of Bordenux—gives to Californians who are in his branch of business a great deal of good advice in an epigram. He was advising local packers to improve the quality of their pack, when he remarked: "We French say that we eat as much with our eyes and our nose as with our mouth."

(Pittsburgh Dispatch:) That there are still some barbarians in Japan is probably true, but for the press of this country to take the shooting of Li Hung Chang as a manifestation of that barbarity has a recoil in it. The assassinations of Lincoln, Garfield and Carter Harrison make it indiscreet for this nation to assume an air of superior civilization toward a country that produces one cranky assassin in the excitement caused by war.

(Fresno Expositor:) The suppression or the regulation of the social evil is a question that is agitating the moral people of Los Angeles. The Times of that city hazards the assertion that a practice that has existed in the world for at least ten thousand years and is more prevalent in highly civilized and Christianized countries than in pagen lands cannot at once tries than in pagan la be entirely suppressed by an ordinance of the Los Angeles City Council.

(San Francisco Chronicle:) The Republican tidal wave of last November does not seem to have turned to the ebb even yet. When Chicago can elect a Republican Mayor by a plurality of 41,110, 'and when Missouri goes Republican for the second time within six months, the Democratic party may well ask itself where it is at. Now will come the danger to the Republicans, that of over-confidence. The Presidential election will not occur, until November, 1896, and the Democratic party is hard to kill. It ought to be killed, but, it takes a deal of beating before giving up the ghost.

Forevermore those loving heart-beats stilled.
In the caim silence of eternal rest.
And till his death mourned Michael Angelo
For that caress of love his life did miss.
I wonder, when his great soul felt the glow
Of immortality in realms of biles. Found he aught, meeting her he worshiped so. To compensate him for that lost earth-kiss?

Rivalry on Supplying More Electric Power.

Petitioners for Main-street Paving Can Only Withdraw on Certain Conditions.

Derham Applies for Belease Through the Medium of Habeas Corpus Proceedings—General Court Notes.

The Board of Public Works yesterday decided to recommend the granting to A. P. Maginnis of a temporary privilege to distribute electrical energy for various urposes north of Seventh street and west is Pearl street. The board also agreed to commend that a franchise giving similar rivileges over the whole city be adver-sed for sale. It was virtually declared rd that the parties who have itioned for the paving of Main street outh of Ninth street will not be perthey have signed unless a petition to have the work done under different specifica-tions be presented by the owners of a tions be presented by the owners of a majority of the frontage in question. The Gas and Light Committee gave a hearing in the matter of the proposed lighting of the City Hall by electricity and it was declared to be the intention of the com-mittee to investigate the question thor-oughly. The City Engineer, after a per-sonal investigation, reported having found a good deal of work not properly done in the sewer district west of Pearl street a good deal of work not properly done in the sewer district west of Pearl street between Ninth, in "Washington streets." Maginnis for the privilege of operating an electric generating plant for a period of twenty-three months in the territory north of Seventh street and west of Pearl street, and of selling electricity, for various purposes therein was first considered.

W. B. Cline, president of the Los Angeles Lighting Company, stated that the electric railway company, would be able to furnish the power desired for the operation of the oil boring and drilling apparatus.

Maginis said that if this were a it must be something new, for the any appeared of late to be short of r. come in at this juncture, was asked for his opinion in reference to the matter. He said that he believed the Council could legally grant the right to distribute electricity for the operation of the oil wells for a period of less than two years. He did not believe the Council could legally grant a privilege for the whole city, but he thought it would be proper to grant a special privilege for a particular purpose. In order to use electricity for the operation of the oil wells, the City Attorney said, it would be necessary to extend poles and wires in a few places besides, on private property. He believed that the "special privilege" provided for in the law contemplated, the same to be for such cases as this.

Mr. Cline argued that what Mr. Maging a safe of the same to be for such cases as this.

Mr. Cline argued that what Mr. Maginnis asked for was not merely to sell electricity to operate oll wells, but to sell it for other purposes in the question, which territory was a large portion of the city.

President Teed of the City Council, who was sitting with the board, said that as far as he knew Mr. Cline or Mr. Wood had no mortgage on the right of selling power in the western portion of the city.

To this Mr. Cline replied that he could not see the use of giving the right to Mr. Maginais when the electric railway company was already prepared to furnish the ways.

Courselman Kingery said that Mr. Cline's company already had the privilege in uestion, and if a similar right were given to Mr. Maginnis it would not be taking it right away from Mr. Cline's company. Capt. John Croes, who, it will be rememered, lives in the western part of the ity, wanted to know if the granting of the privilege asked for by Mr. Maginnis would not give the right to let people have condescent light in their bouses if they caired.

meandescent light in their houses if they estred.

"But the City Attorney says that would be illegal," said Mr. Cline.

"I didn't hear the City Attorney say so," smarked President Teed, "with all defermence to the word of Mr. Cline."

"I am in favor," said Capt. Cross, "of ranting the privilege and then let the swyers fight it out. I am opposed to have monopolles. I don't like the idea of these companies that now have the ranchises saying they will furnish light tor our part of the city when they get ready to do so and not when we want it. I am not connected with any of the parties in this matter, however."

Mr. Cline stated that the company is extending its mains as rapidly as possible, and experts in time to supply gas for the arritory in question.

The board decided to recommend in the matter as follows:

"In the matter of the petition from A. Maginnis, asking that a special privilege be granted him to erect a plant for the generation and distribution of electricity for purposes of lighting, heating and power, in the district north of Seventh interes, and west of Pearl street, for a performance of the seventh of the parties, and west of Pearl street, for a performance of the seventh of the seventh of the seventh of the parties, and west of Pearl street, for a performance of the seventh o

"In the matter of the several petitions from A. P. Maginnis and E. E. Peck, we recommend that the City Attorney present the form of an ordinance granting a franchise for erecting poles and stringing wires along the streets of the city for the purpose of conducting an electrical current to be used in furnishing light, heat and power to the inhabitants of the city; the same to be offered at public sale in the manner-provided by law."

MAIN-STREET PAVING.

The question of the paving of Main street, south of Ninth street, was next taken up. Charles Monroe, Esq., appeared on behalf of some of the property-owners near Tenth and Eleventh streets, and asked that they be permitted to withdraw their petition. The withdrawal was asked in order that the specifications in regard to asphalt, instead of reading "Alcatras" asphalt, might be amended by adding the words: "Or any other asphalt equally as good."

words: "Or any other asphalt equally as good."

It was stated by President Teed, and was also declared by Councilman Pessell, that consent to such withdrawal would not be granted until a petition from the owners of a majority of the frontage on Main street, asking for a different specification, was presented.

W. C. Patterson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Charles Forman, representing the same organization, were heard in reference to the specifications. They asked that the specifications be so worded as to encourage competition and at the same time require that the material used shall be of a certain standard of quality.

used shall be of a certain standard of quality.

There was a lengthy debate in reference to the quality of various brands of asphalt, and it was finally agreed to postpone action on the Main-street paving for two weeks.

The position assumed by members of the board in reference to withdrawals will be bester understood when it is explained that if street work be carried out in accordance with a petition the petitioners have no legal right to protest against the work. If, however, the specifications be changed, or the work in any other way be not carried out in accordance with the petition property-owners who have signed the petition bave a legal right to protest.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The board agreed upon the following recommendations for presentation at the next meeting of the City Council:

"In the matter of the petition from T.S. Botiller and others, asking that Santee street be opened between Seventh and Ninth streets, we recommend that the petition be granted and the City Attorney instructed to introduce an ordinance of intertion, and that the City Engineer furnish him with the proper data, the district of assessment to be both sides of Santee street, between Seventh and Ninth streets. "In the matter of the petition from W. H. Holmes and others, asking that the width of sidewalks on Boyle avenue, between First street and the point where the Hollenbeck-arroyo main sewer crosses said Boyle avenue, be established at the uniform width of fourteen feet, we recommend that said petition be granted, and the City Attorney instructed to present an ordinance granting the same.

"We recommend that the deed from E. S. Hubbard for street purposes, to-wit: London avenue, be accepted and the clerk instructed to place the same upon record." We recommend that the petition from E. UNDER CONSIDERATION BEFORE THE COMMITTEE.

The question of the establishing of an electric lighting plant in the City Hall for the purpose of lighting that building and the police station was caken up at a meet-ing of the Gas and Light Committee yes-ing of the Gas and Light Committee yes-terday afternoon.

President W. B. Cline of the Los Angeles Lighting Company presented a tabulated statement showing that the average monthly cost of gas for the City Hall for one year past had been $188.81. The aver-age per month for the police station had, as shown by the statement submitted, been $86.

Councilman Kingery stated that he had been informed that the lighting could be done a great deal cheaper by the city furnishing its own light.

Mr. Cline stated that his company was eaving $100 per month to the city for license, and the electric lighting company was paying the same amount. He felt therefore, that the company was entitled to some patronage from the city. He said that he believed the committee would find, on investigation, that about one-third of the gas at present being consumed by the city was unnecessarily burned.

A considerable portion of the gas burned was in a few gas stoves used in various places, and in rooms in city buildings where it would be necessary to keep the gas burning during the day, when the city could not afford to keep an electric generator running.

Councilman Kingery said that, to be plain in the matter, the company had been given a valuable franchise by the city and ought to give something in return for it.

Mr. Cline argued that in hotels and other establishments using more gas than was used in the City Hall electric-lighting plants had not been introduced. An expert of his company had examined the wiring in the City Hall electric-lighting plants had not been introduced. An expert of his company had examined the wiring in the City Hall and had found it to be in bad condition for the It would be surprisingly large. If the city has company would be pleased to furnish the lighting.

Councilman Kingery said the Council would probably want to see if Mr. Marshi-world probably want to see if Mr. Marshi-desired to high the City Hall of securiors, his company would be pleased to furnish the lighting. Councilman Kingery said the Council would probably want to see if Mr. Magninis could not supply electricity for lighting the building at a lower rate.

It was declared by Councilmen Kingery and Pessell, both of whom are members of the committee, to be the intention to investigate the question thoroughly.

The committee did not take any definite action on the question.

BELMONT HALL.

People Who Seek Revenge for Being Exposed.

It is Possible that the Affairs of the Strange Outit May be Aired in Court.

The Attempt of Wheeler and Others to Oust the District Attorney from Office for Perform-ing His Duty.

its was announced in this paper, yesterday morning, an attempt by one Dalton Wheeler to buildose Diet. Atty. J. A. Donnell and his deputies into aiding him in the enjoyment of personal revenge for a fancied affront, had culminated in an epplication to Judge Van Dyke for an order, citing the District Attorney to show cause why he should not be removed from office. Wheeler's grievance is based on the fact that his name appeared in the list of people living at Belmont Hall, as dupes and disciples of a strange female, with a stranger creed, and sho included some who were present out of curiosity.

The articles, which exposed a wonderful and most outrageous profanation, were prepared carefully, every detail was verified, and they were published after duconsideration, as a duty to the public and a warning to those who might perchance fall into the totls. It will be seen, by perusal of the article, which is made the basis of the complaint of Wheeler, and which is herewith republished exactly as it originally appeared, that the three arch conspirators, who did the scheming, planned and consummated the fake and were consequently the real persons interested, in the exposure, were in a different category, and separated, in a paragraph to themselves, from the disciples and visitors:

It will be seen that there is nothing itsellent of the content of the state of the content of the state of the property of the state of the content of the persons interested in the exposure, were in a different category, and separated, in a paragraph to themselves, from the disciples and visitors:

It will be seen that there is nothing libelious in the reference to the visitors, among whom Wheeler was named, and no charges were made against any one except the three heads of the institution—Josephine Holmes, Thorwald Holmes and Mrs. Alexander Russell, individuals who have not against Col. Outs for criminal libel, or for a marger oussing the District Atforner an order oussing the District Atforner such a warrant.

The article, a copy of which accompanied the complaint of Wheeler, was as follows, headed:

BELMONT HALL.

The peculiar religious beliefs of the community at Belmont Hall having been given in the Sunday Times, the second division of this odd story naturally opens with an account of the devotees and their daily life, and the manner in which the household is conducted. The hall provides fairly comfortable accommodations for about thirty people, and is occupied by nearly that number, ostensibly living together as brothers and sisters in one large family. As many more are outsiders, and attend only the lectures given twice a week. The know, in fact, whether they have any other motive than one of mere idle curiosity in visiting Belmont Hall; it does not criticise their characters or actions otherwise than as heretofore described, and it does not animadvert censoriously upon their standaing in the community; but, from the facts adduced, it is impressed with the belief that these people, or so many of them as were present at the times described, are lending themselves, consciously or otherwise, to one of the most consummate and contemptible frauds of the age—to a delusion which is utterly devoid of both good morals and good sense.

The reporter met many of the persons named in this list, but not all of them, and the list is printed here as it stood when obtained at Belmont Hall.

The order for the citation signed by Judge Van Dyke reads as follows:

In the Superior Court of the county of Los Angeles, State of California. Dalton Wheeler, palastiff, vs. John A. Donnell, defendant. Order for citation.

A complaint and accusation in writing, charging John A. Donnell with refusing and neglecting to perform the duties pertaining to his office as District Attorney of said Los Angeles county, having been, on the 5th day of April, 1395, presented to this court by Dalton Wheeler, the informer, duly verified by him:

The clerk is hereby ordered to issue a citation commanding said Donnell to appear before this court in Department No. 4, on the 12th day of April, 1395, to show cause why he, the said Donnell, should not be deprived of his office of District Attorney of said county and why a judgment should not be entered against him for five hundred ($500) dollars in favor of said informer and the costs.

(Signed) WALTER VAN DYKE,

Judge of said Superior Court.

Dated April 5, 1895.

The citation issued in accordance with the order of Judge Van Dyke, and served upon Maj. Donnell, reads as follows:

In the Superior Court of the county of Los Angeles, Siata of California Dalton Wheeler, plaintiff, vs. John A. Donnell, defendant. Citation.

Wheeler, plaintiff, vs. John A. Donnell, defendant. Citation.

The People of the State of California to John A. Donnell:
By order of this court you are hereby cited and required to appear before the Judge of this court in the Courthouse in the county of Los Angeles, State of California at the courtroom of Department No. 4, on Friday, the 12th day of April, 1895, at 10 o'clock a.m. of that day, then and there to show cause, if any you have why the prayer of the complaint hereunto attached should not be granted to-wit: Why this court should not decree that you be deprived of your office as District Attorney of the county of Los Angeles, State of California, and also why you should not have a judgment entered against you for the sum of $500 and costs in favor of said plaintiff, for failure to perform the duties of your office. duties of your uties of your office.

Witness:
THE HON. WALTER VAN DIKE.
fudge of the Superior Court of the county of Los Angeles, with the seal of said court affixed, this 5th day of April, 1895.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY TALKS. In an interview with a Times reporter, shortly after accepting service of this citation, Dist.-Atty. Donnell reviewed the facts connected with the case as follows:

"On February 19 last, Dalton Wheeler and two other men called upon me, and two other men called upon me, and the producing a copy of The Times of facts connected with the case as follows:

"On February 19 last, Dalton Wheeler and two other men called upon me, and after producing a copy of The Times of February 17, asked me if I had seen the Belmont Hail article published therein. I told them that I had, and they then stated their business with me and demanded a criminal complaint against Col. Ous for livel. I told them that I could not see wherein they had been injured, since none of the trie was mentioned in the article, whereupon they produced another paper of the current issue, containing smother Belmont Hail article. As I was about to leave for Sacramento that day, I told them that I was of the opinion that there was nothing ifbellous in the article shown me, but if they desired I would refer the matter to my assistant, W. T. Williams, who would be in charge of affairs during my absence. They retired seemingly well pleased with this arrangement, and saying they would consult him, left my office. Upon my return from Sacramento Mr. Williams and Mr. Willia both informed me that they examined the case thoroughly and that each had denied the application, and said I would probably receive a visit from Wheeler and his friends. The three mon called upon me later and demanded of me, as the official in chief, that I should give the matter my earlicat personal attention. I promised to do so, and at the ead of a week's time they again returned and inquired what I had done. I replied that after carefully considering the case I was still of the opinion that they and no case, and that I would, therefore, decline to prosecute. I reminded them of their willingness to have Mr. Williams look into the matter, and that both he and Mr. Willis had done so.

"I also told them frankly that my assistants had concluded from their information that the statements in the alleged libs were true, according to the admissions made to them by Mrs. Holines when they interviewed her. They became very abusive, and threattened then to bring this uit. In my first interview with Mr. Wheeler knave or incompetent, and breathing threats of vengeanes, left my office.

"Personally, I cannot believe that this matter is worthy of serious consideration on my part, for I know that I am right in the stand I have taken.

"I advised these people, that they had a remedy by means of a civil action against the Times-Mirror Company, and further stated that I had no objection to "their employing outside counsel to prosecute the case if they saw fit, but that I would not lend myself or my office to the furtherance of their ends.

"As I understand it, I am vested with certain discretionary powers, without the exercise of which the courts of this county would be hopelessly crippled, for should I be compelled to issue a complaint, whenever one is applied for, without investigation, they would be used as collection agencies and the channel for all sorts of petty spite-work.

"The complaint is erroneous in one respect, and that is as regards Miss Josephine Holmes. I never saw the woman either here or elsewhere, and Wheeler is the only person who has applied to me for a complaint against Col. Otia."

TO SUE THE PULLMANS.

How a Young Passenger Was Robbed and Humiliated.

and Humiliated.

On the night of November 13, 1894, Charles E. Anthony and his minor son occupied a berth in a Pullman sleeping carrunning between Barstow and Los Angeles. When they reached Los Angeles the next morning it was discovered that the young man's wardrobe had been stolen during the night. Owing to this predicament he was compelled to leave the carclad in very scanty raiment, and exposed to the elements and the contumely of the other passengers and people on the streut. The thief had gotten away with your Anthony's suit of clothes, underwey, watch, chain, cuff buttons and offer jewelry, leaving him only his night shirt and innate modesty.

Because of the shame and mortification suffered by the boy on this account, the elder Anthony sues the Pullman Palace Car Company for $200 damages and $75 the value of the articles stolen. The complaint was filed in Justice Morrison's court yesterday.

POSTPONED ONE WEEK.

Examination of Thomas, Who Identifled an Adventuress.

Walter F. Thomas, the young man who helped Sarah Hubbard, edias Emma Bart-lett, alias Emma Steward, to obtain $200 from the German-American Savings Bank, was to be examined before Justice Morrison yesterday on the charge of fetony. By consent of all parties, however, the examination was postponed one week.

Justice Morrison reduced the culprit's ball to $500, and his lawyers made a strenous effort to secure it for him, but have not yet succeeded. His mother qualified as one bondsman, but he must have another.

at Oakland Monday when "Gen," Kelly's aids left him and the co-operative laundry closed down. As "Col." Cooney expressed it, "it is of no use to try to reform a lot of hobos, or to run a laundry where everybody thinks that he knows more about the business than anybody else and will not obey orders." Those who encouraged and abetted this fad in order to convince voters that they were "friends of the people," committed a crime against society as well as against the poor dupes who were led "hoofing it" all over the continent. Industrialism has gone and populism will soon follow. What next?

This locomotive takes the Empire State express from New York to Albany.

SUNDAY EXCURSIONISTS. SUNDAY EXCURSIONISTS.

The Southern Pacific has decided to make a permanency of the special train to Santa Monica each Sunday morning, leaving Arcade Depot at 10:30 am. The summer season has opened early this year, but the less two Sundays the crowd of holiday-makers has been so large that increased accommodation was rendered necessary. The return from the beach will be made at 5:35 p.m., arriving in the city about 6:10 p.m.

The Southern Pacific will issue within The Southern Pacific will issue within the next few days a new time-card, which will go into effect on Thursday next. Under this new schedule the short line will, among other changes, have two fast morning trains from Santa Monica, one leaving at 7:10 o'clock and the other at 8:15, arriving in the city at 7:40 and 8:51, respectively. There will also be a new midday service from Rectands and Celton, to connect with the 2 o'clock express for San Francisco, and a return train to leave at 2:55 p.m., taking passengers arriving from San Francisco into the interior. The overland heretofore leaving at 8:30 o'clock will so out fifteen minutes later, and the 10:30 a.m. Rediands local will be abandoned, a train leaving at 7:45 a.m., to be substituted for it. The morning Rediands train will arrive here at 9:30 o'clock, making comection with focal trains, and the Ohino train will arrive at 8:15 o'clock, instead of 8:45, as hitherto. The new train from Rediands, which is to be known as the "Bit"—"get there, Bit"—will maintain the usual fast time. THE JONATHANS ABROAD.

A number of the members of the Jona-than Club intend going out on the South-ern Pacific tug Collis, for a fishing trip tomorrow, but owing to some hitch in the obtaining of requisite tackle, the excursion has been postponed. Tomorrow week, however, the trip will be made without fall, and a fine aggregation of fish stories obtained, with which the club will be regaled upon the ensuing Saturday evening.

SAME OLD MORTGAGE.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Charles S. Tweed, counsel for the Southern Pacific, when shown a dispatch from Bakersfield, Cal., about the filing of a trust deed of the Southern Pacific Company, said: "There is nothing new about this matter. It is simply a filing of the cid mortgage of September 5, 3893, in a county which was overlooked at that time, or possibly a county newly constituted. These bonds have been listed on the stock exchange for the past eighteen months."

CHICAGO, April 5.—Some of the Eastern lines are becoming very weary of the low rate on grain now prevailing from Chicago to the Atlantic seabcard, and there is a strong probability that the rate will be restored at the meeting of the presidents, which takes place next Tuesday. The disposition is to advance rates above 10 and 12 cents, some heavy contracts having been made at the latter figure. By no means will the other tariff of 20 cents be restored. There is, in fact, a strong opposition to shade that rate openly, and it may be put as low as 18 or 17 cents. The Western lines have been trying for two days to get matters into line so that their association can be put into motion, but so far they have made but little progress.

Mr. George E. Shafer, of 1559 Von Storch Avenue, Scranton, Pa., wears the honored brown button of the Grand Army of the Republic. He enlisted in Company A of the Fifteenth Regiment, Pennsylvanis Volunteer Infantry, at the outbreak of the war, and after a year of service practiced his trade, that of a machinist, with the army in Tennessee. He is now a member of Griffia Post, No. 139, of Scranton.

Mr. Shafer was a mere boy in those days, and to day he carries his 50 years lightly. He says he has had very little sickness during his life, although for a number of years past he has been troubled with dyspeysia—a disability that may be traced to his camp life and his constant work in the shope.

"Dyspepsia doesn't bother me much now, though." Mr. Shafer told a reporter.

"Pain-Killer was recommended to me, and remembering its great efficacy in curing the pains of soldier life, I tried it. Before that I suffered untold agony with that 'lump of lead' that you have undoubtedly heard about if you never experienced it. It is worse than the lead from the musket of a foe. It used to attack me at all sorts of times, usually without warning. Before I began to use Pain-Killer I could find no relief except to let it wear itself out and then be careful about my diet. In fact, there was nothing that I could eat and enjoy without head singer of bringing on an attack. But now I have no trouble at all," continued Mr. Shafer. "I cat what I please and when I please, and enjoy the best of health. If the 'lump of lead' appears and when I please, and enjoy the best of health. A Meeting to Discuss the Matter of Extending the City Limits of Los Angeles—Col. Eastman Made a Report.

At Paulk's Hall, near postal station D, in West Washington, was held on Thursday night a meeting to promote the project of extending the city limits. The atendance was large and much interest and inthusiasm was manifested. The Southwest Improvement Association, the Pico Palebta Association, the Harper tract and enthusiasm was manifested. The Pico Heights Association, the Harper tract and the University district were all represented. As chairman of a committee raised last week, Col. Eastman read a lengthy report on the subject. His report was as follows:

The report herewith respectfully submitted, of your special committee, is also the report of the joint committee, is also the subject of extending the city limits by the annexation of contiguous territory on the west and south, raised by a vote of the Southwest Improvement Association and the Pico Heights Association respectively, to which committee was added by your joint direction, certain individuals representing residents on Pico Heights, in the t direction, certain individuals repre-ting residents on Pico Heights, in the per tract and in the University dis-tract the traction of the traction of the thetare in sympathy with the move-it; three from the former and three mittee has at papeated sessions had whole subject under careful consider-in, with the result that all its mem-are of the opinion that the proposed busion by amexation, of the city limits both desirable and practicable at this support the project of annexation, and to heee the present observations may be confined.

The urgent desirability of annexation as long been fixed in the minds of many you citizens residing in the eastern porion of Ballona township, in Rosedale, on ico Heights, in the Harper tract and in he University district, and intelligently ad as an eastern boundary of extending he western boundary of the city been pristely discussed. No less so for a long griod has the expediency of extending he western boundary of the city been stilled in the convictions of great numbers of the people of Los Angeles city. The inconvenience to individuals and estrement to realty of having the east and est streets ended abruptly at Hoover and divarado streets, thus forming a negrected, ragged edge where should be connuous improvement and rivaling beauty, as for years been recognized and bealied by hundreds. The obvious disaduntages resulting from occupying nearly olated positions outside the city to all wellers in the localities above named, and the great expense of maintaining parate minor authorities, and the little odd these are capable of doing, have tother served to create in the minds of the believed) the majority a strong wish obliterate the various signs of village feriority, and to unite their community rinnes completely with those of the inbitants of the city. That no earlier to we want in this direction has been promingly started has been mainly owing to where the interest the stream of the public as contract the stream of the public as contract the stream of the public as contract the stream of the city.

anaexed have later a duty to perform, when opportunity is given them to vote upon the final proposition. In this instance, therefore, some people inside the city must first move in accordance with the law, which requires, that a petition, containing a description of the new territory asked to be annexed, be prepared and signed by not less than one-fifth in number of the quasified electors of the city—computed upon the number of votes at the last general municipal election—and presented to the City Council. Whereupon the City Council, the law says, shall without delay submit to the electors of the city, and also to the electors residing in the territory proposed by the petition to be manexed, whether such maw territory shall be annexed, whether such maw territory shall be annexed, whether such maw territory shall be annexed, whether such may territory and no other, and the City Council is by law empowered and it shall be its duty to cause another, and the City Council is by law empowered and it shall be its duty to cause mutes to be given of such election by the publication of a notice thereof in a newspaper printed and published outside of the city but in the county, in each at least succe a week for a period of four successive weeks next preceding the date of such election. Such notice shall distinctly state the proposition to be submitted, with a full description of the dissipance of the city of the city state the proposition to be submitted, with a full description of the disof such election. Such notice shall tinctly state the proposition to be mitted, with a full description of the or such election. Such notice shall distinctly state the proposition to be submitted, with a full description of the district proposed to be annexed, and in the notice the qualified electors of the city and the qualified electors of the city and the qualified electors of the territory proposed to be annexed, shall be invited to vote upon the proposition by placing upon the ballots the word "For Annexation," or "Against Annexation," or some equivalent words. All other acts and things increasary to be done in order to secure an expression of opinion by the electors, and to complete the work of annexation, are specified in the law, and full authority given therefor. The election, in both the mity and the district proposed to be annexed, will be held under the exclusive upper the election paid for by the city. The City founcil shall, at its next regular meeting first the depositing of the hallots and the diff she she with the City Clerk, open and awas the same. The record shall be it and true, and strictly in accordance the facts as found. In the event that a majority, in the city, and transmit to the Secretary of State a copy of the record, to the right proposed to be annexed, shall be in an election and the time and result or competed the Secretary of State immediately its receipt. From and after the date a filing in the office of the Secretary into the facts and the time and result or competed the secretary of State immediately its receipt. From and after the date a filing in the office of the Secretary into the annexation of such territory proposed to be annexed is to be deemed there complete, and thenceforth is to be, to all intents and purposes, a part of the city, with one exception. It is this: That no property within the annexed territory shall sver be taxed to pay any portion of any indebtedness or liability of the city contracted prior to or existing at the time of the annexation. That is all, and it is enough—clear, just and fair; specially is it fair and just toward the people in the district our petition will ask to have annexed.

1. That they are teach of California.
2. That they constitute more than one-fifth in number of the qualified electors of said city of Los Angeles, computed upon the number of votes cast at the last general municipal election held therein:
3. That it is the wish of your petitioners and others, that the boundaries of said city of Los Angeles be changed and extended as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at the western boundary of said city at the middle of street to run thence westerly along the middle of said street to the west line of Rosedale and University School districts, thence northerly along the middle of said street to the west line of Rosedale and avenue to the middle of Sixth street, thence easterly along the middle of said sixth street to the limits of said city.

and the laying of sidewalks will not be forced beyond what is right and expedient but the annexed portion of the city will begin at once to fill with people, and these improvements will be made in accordance forced beyond what is right and expedient, but the annexed portion of the city will begin at once to fill with people, and these improvements will be made in accordance with the popular wish and the needs of the time. Soon the Rosedale Cemetery will have become as real estate too valuable as a cemetery, and those noble grounds will be sold in building lots to individuals, or possibly—let us hope—to the city, to be laid out and cultivated into a park. Those that have houses to rent will find ready tenants, and not as now, in some instances, be compelled to add the rental per month, and for mouth after month, that is not obtained to the taxes and other penalties of living outside the city. Then you will have the privilege of sending your children to the High School free, whereas now you must pay a tuition fee. Your streets will be sprinkled and the garbage removed at the city's expense, and not, as at present, by yourselves at a considerable cost. Police protection will be given, and you will have the benefits that the City Library confers upon the dwellers in the city. These great benefits, so promotive of popular education, are now denied to you and your children. This long list of substantial advantages might be added to almost indefinitely, but this committee is of the opinion that the case for extending the city limits has now been made out, and hence submission upon the whole question is made to the popular judgment and decision.

While Los Angeles city is the visible mover, by necessity, in this enterprise, it is not required that any argument be urged upon the citizens in its behalf. This uniquely beautiful city has a clear destiny, manifest to all. The opportunity is prized to help toward the fulfillment of that destiny. All enterprising men and women that have a just prede in its exceptional renown, and are interested in its inevitable extension, should be appealed to and aroused to come promptly to the aid of the movement, whose objects and scope are now set forth with such completeness and earnestness itor of The Times.) I have just erceived a detter from a gentleman in one of our Eastern citiés, who once resided in Los Angeles and takes a deep interest in the fair name and fame of this community. The account of the woeful want of order at the funeral of the poor murdered Chinaman some weeks ago was exaggerated in the minds of the Eastern people, and some of them imagine that we have no police force worthy of the name. But this is a mistake, and I hope that all future gatherings, for whatever purposes, may demonstrate that we can, and do, have order in this city. I give a few extracts from this gentleman's letter; his remarks are timely and cannot fail to do good.

"Some friend has sent me the Los Angeles Times, which paper I always find good reading. I notice that in its editorial columns the hope is expressed that no rowdyism or-hoodiumism will be indulged in during the coming flesta such as marred the closing of the one of last year. I have just received from L and E., (two American ladies) now in Parls, descriptions of their enjoyment of the fete days preceding Lent; and how that, although every one was merry, jolly and free, throwing the paper canfetti (little pleces of colored paper) all over every one, presenting pretty paper butterflies to the pretty girls; and although the streets were jammed with thousands, there was not in all Parls a drunken man to be seen, and not one arrest for disorderily conduct. These two tadies did not even see a poi.ceman threatening any one. A New Yorker who was present at these fetes wrote to the Parls cerrespondent of the New York Times: I want to go home! I'm homesick. Yesterday I'm issed in all the frolicking and rolicking fun of Mardi Gras on the streets of Parls, the familiar clubbing by policemen of riotous, drunken, insuicing brutes, to which I have been accustomed upon all festival occasions in my native city of New York. I could not have imagined it possible that thousands on thousands could congregate in the streets, having free merry-making and a jolly good ti

UNION.

THAT IS WHAT BANKER HELL-MAN SAYS WE NEED.

It Made Los Angeles City and Will Make the Northern Part of the State—Plan of the Half Isaias W. Hellman, president of the Nevada Bank, has returned to San Francisco from a trip to Los Angeles, and to a Dally Report reporter expressed his views very freely and favorably upon California affairs. Mr. Hellman, being at the head of leading financial institutions and commercial enterprises in this State, is in a position to know to a certainty whereof he talks.

"I lived in Southern California for more business men, than I did during this trip. Everything is improving in Los Angeles and the other leading cities of the south, and it is not at all due to speculation. Thousands of people have come there, and are still coming, from the Bast, and are casting their lots with the old population and are starting improvements which are perfectly astonishing.

perfectly astonishing.

"Money in Los Angeles and elsewhere in Southern Oalifornia is very abundant, because it is brought in by Eastern and English people who are settling there. To give you an idea of the extent that business has increased in Los Angeles alone, I will cite some figures about my own bank—the Farmers and Merchants—in that city, which were furnished to me by the cashier just before I left. These figures whow that on May 1, 1893, that bank had-2528 open accounts. On the 1st of April, 1894, these open accounts had increased the rumber of open accounts was 3702, which is the laward and accounts was 3702, 1894 these open accounts had increased as 2306. On April 1, the day before I left, the number of open accounts was 3703, which is the largest number in any commercial bank on the Pacific Coast. The individual and the aggregate amounts of the accounts are not so large as in San Francisco banks, but no interest is paid upon them, and they show in a general sense a steady increase of business.

"I do not think the winter travel from the East this year has been so heavy as last year, but it has nevertheless been quite steady and gradual over the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific routes. Los Angeles is being built up in all directions. There are no houses to let nor are there any vacant stores.

"The coming fiests in Los Angeles will be a great success. The whole community down that way are enthusiastic over it. Nothing will be left undone to make it successful.

down that way are enthusiastic over it. Nothing will be left undone to make it successful.

"As regards the excursion which is being managed under the auspices of the Half-Million Club of San Francisco, whereby representatives of every leading interest in Northern California will meet the southern interests at the flesta, let me say that it will be received with open arms. The visit of the North to the South is being talked of by everybody in Los Angeles and the southern cities of the State. It is upon every lip. It will be of the greatest and most lasting good. The whole of California would be benefited if such fraternal visits could be more frequent. We belong to one State, and if we have not mingled in common before it is because San Francisco has repelled it. They of loss Angeles are delighted because San Francisco has repelled it. They of loss Angeles are delighted because San Brancisco is going to bring the people of the whole of California more closely together. San Francisco is now on the eve of great prosperity, because of the new valley railroad the club and the relegation of Silurianism to the regions around the upper waters of Salt River. Silurianism in California is a thing of the past. We have that power within ourselves, as wide-awake men and citigens, to build here a mighty empire through a proper exertion of enterprise. Let everybody stop grumbling and have confidence in himself and put his shoulder to the wheel, and we shall have more prosperous times."

Mr. Hellman concluded his remarks by saying that he believed the revival in the silver market would be permanent, and would also do the Coast an immense amount of good.

COUNTRY PROPERTY.

The success which attended the sale of the Sunny Slope tract, above referred to, shows that there is a good demand for first-class country property. This is apparent in other directions also. The prospect of a good year for all varieties of horticultural products has stimulated the demand for good fruit land and a number of sales have been noted. Quite a number of sales have been showing their faith in the horticultural resources of this section by planting large tracts in fruit trees. Among others is A. McNally, the well-known Chicago publisher, whose extensive tract near Fullerton promises before long to be one of the show places of Southern California. There are in this iract 2500 acres of land, of which Mr. McNally will plant 500 acres in olives, shout

THAT FENCE ORDINANCE.

The city has enough ordinances already which are dead letters, and there is no crying demand for more of that kind. This remark is suggested by the fact that, so far as can be observed, the instructions of the Council and the Superintendent of Streets to remove all fences on the public streets before April 2 has not met with any attention. It is an outrage upon the public that contractors should be permitted to take up as much of a street as they choose for an indefinite time. This is especially noticeable in the case of the fence around the old courthouse building, where for a number of months one boy has been removing bricks at the rate of about one an hour. R would be a good things not to make regulations of this kind unless it is intended to enforce them.

Rogers, Ross Clark; Misses Torrey, Klokke, Johnsten and Hazlett. Some very smart gowns were worn. A delightful programme was rendered, consisting of violin soles by Mrs. Rugh MacNell, accompanied by Mrs. Vosburg; piano soles by Miss O'Dosoghue, and songs by Mrs. Orr Haralson, Miss Wharton and little Miss Marion Churchill. The decorations were rarely beautiful, a different scheme of color being carried out in each room. In the drawing room red roses and carnations were artistically arranged, and the reception-room was lovely with pink roses, filling great bowls and jars; the doors were outlined with bridal wreaths. The reception hall was gorgoous with a profusion of calendulas and wild popples, relieved with quantities of smilax, wreaths of which also entwined the balustrade. In the disingroom there was wistaria galore; it runriet over the buffet, it dripped from the chandelier, and wreathed itself in graceful sprays over the mantel and pictures and completely hid the fireplace. Knots of violet satin ribbon were fastened here and there. The guests were: Mines. H. Javne, Kelsey, Johnson, MacNell, Vosburg, Marriner, Maxwell, Moore, Off. Bradner, Lee, Teed, Salisbury, R. M. No class of professional men are more conservative, more barreful in giving advice, or more painstaking in finding out the real facts of a case than physicians.

Their recommendation in matters with which they are conversant is trustworthy. When physicians of known repute not only prescribe and use, but size being home. Paine's celery compound for their own families, there can be no doubt, of its high standing in the yes of medical men in general.

This is what busy, successful practitioners are doing these spring days all over the country.

Paine's celery compound is prepared, as they all well know, from the formula of the forement physician of this century. Prof. Edward to the all steep the consequence of the second bottle is nearly some and it relieves and home there is an of character and influence, says:

James Deveney, St. Johns. I think the farmer who depends entirely on his wheat crop will, in a few years, find himself entirely bankrupt. The land in this State does not produce over one-half the crop it getting less every year. If the farmers of this State would only try and drive more big hogs, steers and sheep to market they could sell all that might be fattened. They should get choice breeds and feed them as they do in the Eastern States. In my opinion, wheat is just as good as corn for feed, and we have thousands of acres that will grow good corn, and, if desired, it can be mixed with wheat. I am of the opinion that all the Eastern States will feed at least one-quarter of all the wheat they raise hereafter. Many of them think wheat as good as corn, if not better. If the farmers in this State were of my opinion they would feed at least one-fourth of all the wheat they raise hereafter. Many of them think wheat as good as corn, if not better. I have had very limited experience in the use of wheat as feed for animals, but if fed carefully, all kinds of stock thrive better on it than any other grain.

Facts About the Texas Pecan

[Witten for The Times.]

An article published in a late issue of your paper, with the above heading, has been sent me by a grover of pecans in another State, with a request that I reply to it. We are all seeking information on the subject of pecan culture, which is not only interesting the residents of Callfornia, but of other States. No more valuable industry for the masses has in it such elements of wealth, at such a small cost for planting a grove, such libtle risk and little care, without the insect pest, to which fruit trees are liable. Mr. Yates, like myself, has yet to learn a good deal before we know everything. He may be a good nurseryman, and thinks he knows it all, but I find here nurserymen, who probably have had as long experience as he has, who differ from him in regard to cutting the tap root of the pecan. I do not deny, nor do they, that the pecan transplants as well as any other tree, but that is not the only thing to be considered. Those who plant the pecan want fruit as well as shade. Cut the tap root before transplanting, and you get a nice shade tree, which may bear a lietle, but transplant with whole roots, or plant the nuts where thetree is to stand, and you have both the fruit and the shade.

I do not wish to antagonize the nurserymen, because they pursue a valuable industry, worthy to be encouraged. They are educating the people, and the more people who plant orchards and groves for their products will live better, be healthier and happier citizens.

There is much for them to learn about tree-planting. Trees with a tap root, like the pecan, in the voying tree slosing one-half or more of their roots will, in two years time, if carefully transplanted, reproduced, and think the young tree is thereby rendered worthless. In reality, the very opposite is the case, for young trees losing one-half or more of their roots will, in two years time, if carefully transplanted, reproduce from one to four tap roots, penetrating, in many instanc of a cotton field and received cultivation annually.

The difference between growing the wild pecan or the domestication of it by cultivation is vastly greater than one would naturally think. A peach tree planted away by itself from other peach trees is one thing, and a peach tree in an orchard with other peach trees is another. The first will bear but small, worthless fruit, while the other the finest peaches grown. Why? It is in the fruiting and the cultivation.

while the other the finest peaches grown. Why? It is in the fruiting and the cultivation.

The same rule may apply to the pecan. While the wild growth may reach to the height of sixty or seventy-five feet, with wide-spreading limbs, yet they can be planted in growes 20x20 feet apart, making 126 trees per acre. They can be headed the same as other trees until they assume something the form of a goblet, and after they begin to bear will give royal earnings for twenty or twenty-five years before it will become necessary to cut any of them away. The same ground can be cultivated in crops, the cultivation of which benefits the trees. When they are large enough to shade the ground it can be put into pasture.

In conclusion I will again say I do not wish to antagonize or injure the nurserymen, but will say that almost to a man the only ones that recommend cutting the tap root in transplanting the pecan trees have them for sale, and they know very well that a pecan tree which is over one year old cannot easily be furnished with all the roots uncut or unbroken.

I will further say, if you do buy the pecan trees from a nurseryman, don't buy any over twelve months old, and insist upon whole roots or refuse them.

The universal testimony of our best and most experienced pecan-growers is that this plan is the chappest, safest and best in every way.

Plant the nuts where the tree is to stand, or, what is better yet, bed the nuts, buying only the choicest of the thin shell, and transplant the young trees when less than one year old. In this way you have plenty of time to prepare the ground. You know what you plant, and can expect a like product.

Strawberry Culture.

(Riverside Press:) The paper read the other night before the East Side Club by R. Hurburt on "The Strawberry and its Culture," is received too late for use entire. We, however, condense from it the following:

the best method. It will give a cool soil in this climate, so as to prevent wilting or burning of the plants or fruit. Of course variations must be made to suit the variations in heat and moisture of the atmosphere. To gain the best success the water must be under the control of the grower, for he alone can know what is needed. I have found myself hampered and damaged to large extent by being obliged to let other minds, who have no interest, turn on or withhold water at their option, which is absolutely uncalled for.

"You ask, are there no pests? Yes, in California almost equal to the frost of the drouth in the East. I'll not say a word about the small. boy, for he doesn't love strawberries(?). The birds do. Some say a bee cannot eat a fruit without a bird to enter his protest first. Perhaps so. I do not believe it. I fed swarms of my neighbor's bees last year. They went underneath the leaves where the bird could or would not go. One-quarter of my crop last year was destroyed by these pests. There seems to be no lady-bird, or wash, or official paid by the county to abate these nuisances.

"About marketing. Of course you who have a small patch will find your marketing already done. But to you who have a large crop to market, I would say, do not deliver to anybody to sell for you on commission. I have known over and over the dishonest commission man to order more than his market could hold, so as to feed himself and his friends and customers with cheap berries at the grower's expense. One who sells to a commission man will find, in the long run, that he will lose all confidence in meh, which will be to him as great a damage as the loss of his fruit.

"Do a square business, and know what you are to get before you ship." "A home market is the best. I sold at home. 300 quaris per day, at 10 cents, while berries picked ten miles away, the day before, sold at 8 cents. There is more difference in the quality of the ripe, luscious than there is between cull boards and clear stuff lumber. Do not sell in a dirty old box, during my service as superintendent of the Queen Colony Fruit Association last year.

There is a very great difference in the quality of the oranges of the same variety grown in the different orobards at South Riverside. This is especially true of the Washington navel oranges. Some will grade a large per cent more fancy fruit than others. This makes a great difference in the income of the orohard. The explanation of this difference I believe to be the difference in the purity and strain of the buds used. Our nurserymen have been careless in this respect, and growers have bought anything called Riverside Washington navels.

The nearer the original Riverside tree we get the better the fruit, and every dilution of this original strain deteriorates the fruit, although I think this might be obviated in a measure by selecting buds from bearing trees that mature smooth, thin-skinned fruit.

I would not bud a tree from buds' taken from non-bearing trees for fear of propagating the defects of the fruit.

Nature's laws govern in the tree world as they do in the animal, and we would not expect to get a blooded colt from a broncho sire and dam.

The fruit from the old original Riverside, the Barney orchard, always commands the highest price in the market, and was sold this year on the trees for $10,000.

Cows can be kept in milk three and went four years by spaying. It is not a prac-tice that we can recommend to farmers, who ought never to keep cows that are not valuable enough to breed from. But milkmen use up cows and then send them to the butcher after their milk falls. They can protract this time a year or two longer by spaying their cows. The spayed cow is also useful to the village or city resi-Better Packing Called For.

(Pomona Times:) The second order for a car of Pomona oranges contained a request for better packing. No fault was found with the fruit. We have all along understood that Pomona packers were doing first-class work. If any are not, even if only one carload, they should amend their ways in this respect. We would fain believe that the Florida car was the exception to the rule.

In any event, customers must be pleased. We must kindly sumbit to criticism of any of our methods in handling fruit, especially when it comes from those who buy it. The better fruit is placed on the market, the better for the grower and shipper. As a rule, the difference in cost of placing fruit before the public in the best condition and in a slipshod way is but little, and the advantage great. dent who chooses to keep a cow so as to be sure of healthy milk from one cow

Excessive inbreeding impairs the physical points of fowls as well as of other reproduce the good and bad points, and when inbred too closely will reproduce the latter every time.

The Bantam.

The Bantam.

(Poultry and Stock Review:) The bantam is a little fowl, but it is entitled to more consideration than simply a pet for children. Its eggs are small, but exceedingly rich, and certain breeds, notably Seabrights and games, are prolific. Must the dweller in crowded city quarters, just because he has little room, be denied the privilege of producing a few fresh eggs occasionally, and must his children be doomed to the hard lot of being forced to be deprived of all the sweet companionship of living pets? By a little carpentering a dry goods box is quickly made fit for the habitation of several bantam fowls. The little birds are in sobody's way. They live, thrive, and lay many eggs, while their food has consisted mainly of table wastes that otherwise would pay no dividends. The breeder may hatch his bantam eggs much later than it would be proper to hatch the eggs of full-sized birds. But a limited time is required for the development of such a little bird, so chicks may be hatched as late as August or September and yet be reasonably sure to make good growth. Ordinary-sized fowls, on the contrary, would be of little use or value if hatched so lete. It is an unfortunate circumstance that some breeds of bantams are particularly tender and fall easy victims to colds and roup. Probably their constitutional vigor has been destroyed by too close inbreeding and the breeding from too immature stock. Of course, the practices, have been resorted to in order to dwarf size and build up a race of birds from two or three as parent stock, but there is a limit beyond which the breeder should never go. Value of "First Crosses."

Value of "First Crosses."

(Farm, Field and Fireside:) It has been proved by the experience of many practical poultrymen that a "first cross" produces a very hardy fowl and a great egg-producer. It must be remembered, however, that the first cross is alone valuable. These cross-bred birds are not valuable as breeders unless, maybe, in case of the hens being mated to a cock of some pure breed. The cross-breds if mated together will produce mongrels of a low grade.

An Interesting Experiment.

(Farm News:) From the proceedings of the New York Farmers, an organization of rich men who play at farming, we take the following extracts from a paper read by Dr. Peter Collier of the New York Experimental Station. The doctor's paper was filled with scientific terms, which we have taken the liberty of reducing to plain English where it was possible to do so.

In this experiment every ounce of food was carefully weighed and a sample analyzed, and the experiment was conducted during the first period of coming into milk. The food was such as any good dairyman would furnish his cows, consisting of hay, corn, ensilage roots, and, during the growing season. Various green crops, such as alfalfa, vetches, oats and peas, corn and sorghum. Besides these there was given each day a grain ration varied according to the season, consisting of wheat bran, cornmeal, cotton-seed meal, linseed meal, crushed oats, gluten, etc. These were fed at different times to make a variety in their food.

In the production of milk, taking 100 as the lowest, the breeds ran as follows: An Interesting Experiment.

Variety for Fattening Animals.

(American Cultivator:) Because a kind of food is poor in nutritive value, it does not foollow that none of it should be given to stock which it is desired to force rapidly. Quite often the poor food is most needed to prevent undue clogging of the digestive apparatus. When we have fattened hogs on corn, a small quantity of wheat middlings in milk, or, if milk cannot be got, in water, was always greedily eaten. So, too, fattening hogs will eat freely of roots, especially of beets or mangels, though these have very small amount of nutrition. If neither the roots nor middlings can be had, give the hogs some chopped clover and see them eat it. They will not eat very much, but the little that they take is necessary as a divisor to prevent their richer food from cloying them. Fattening sheep will always eat a little grain straw if they have a grain ration that contains too much nitrogenous matter. Yet straw of itself is so poor a feed that if given with nothing else sheep will starve on it, and those that are not vigorous will die from lack of nutrition.

THE WATER QUESTION AGITAT-ING THE COMMUNITY.

The Tuesday Evening Club Gives

Miss Elizabeth Cleveland, Friend of Children.

PASADENA. April 5.—(Special Correspondence.) The Lake Vineyard Land and Water Company have been receiving a greater share of public attention lately than they believe themselves warranted in accepting, and the directors have at last declared themselves in favor of discussing their affairs and giving their side of the "water question." Of course the directors, acting entirely without compensation for their services, and elected by the suffrage of the stockholders, have never been accused of any intent to wrong their constituents in the least, and the most that has been said of their policy is that it is shortsighted, and in the matter of selling the "surplus." formed a dangerous precedent. There has been complaint that the company has furnished water to persons outside the district, but C. C. Brown, by whose authority a massmeeting is called for Saturday night, declares that the company has the right to furnish water to anybody who owns stock, no matter where they live. Whether or not the company can use the funds in the treasury for providing the facilities for carrying the water to any point they desire, is not so plain. If those funds have been contributed by the stockholders in assessments—and by assessments is meant the regular levy for the use of the water provided, spayable monthly into the treasury to the owners of the orders of th the regular levy for the use of the water provided, spayable monthly into the treasury, it is not within the power of the company to use them for conveying water to stockholders without the district, even to the owners of the original stock, which is privileged, and one share of which is equal to ten single shares of the later issue. It is true that water may be furnished to any person owning stock, but it is said by those conversant with the facts, that the piping must be at the expense of the individual stockholder in such case, and not of the whole body of stockholders. As the matter now stands, persons buying land in Pasadeua become also the owners of the water-stock belonging to that land. They are compelled to buy it, for they must have water and water service. The directors are elected from the large owners of stock, usually, and they regulate the company's affairs, levy the toll, and the small holder is helpless in their hands. He can at least express his opinions, and in the last month, since the matter has been agitated, he has done so. The calling of a mass-meeting is a commendable step toward the solution of the difficulty, and will no doubt result in a harmonious understanding upon the subject. It may in the end-bring about city ownership of water, toward which the small stockholder inclines. The fact of the matter is, that the City Council of Pasadena has the power to regulate the toil on water, and in case the charges of the various companies should seem too extortionate, the people could petition the Council to exercise their legal right to set the rate of levy, and regulate justly the matter of taxation for the use of water. Should city-ownership be impracticable, as it is under the present charter, the Council is at liberty to act at any time that it is invoked so to do.

THREE SCORE AND TEN.

The birthday reception tendered to Miss Edizabeth Cleveland of the South Pasadena Children's Home. Thursday afternoon, was the occasion of the tendering of many pleasant tokens of regard in her by her numerous friends. Miss Cleveland is hale and vigorous and her heart is young snough and large enough to include all the suffering and neglected little ones of Pasadens's poor, though her means have been all too siender to carry on the charitable work which she so nobly began at the time of life when most people think only of rest, quiet and a peaceful old age. There are now ten children in her charge, four having been sent back to relatives on account of lack of means to properly care for them at the some. A poem was read by Mrs. Dodge of Grand Rapids, Mich., congratulating Miss Cleveland upon passing her seventieth mitestone, and rifts of money in sums from $20 down were donated by various persons, and comforts for the children and for Miss Cleveland were left by the visitors.

A "PUNCH" BONNET. THREE SCORE AND TEN.

A "PUNCH" BONNET.

Pasadena can proudly boast of at least one progressive female. Her husband brought home to her an Easter bonnet which did not suit her taste, as it did not have enough red, green and yellow, the fiesta colors, in its trimmings, and she at once proceeded to read him a practical lesson on taste in head-gear by a bit of "manual" impression upon him. As he plaintively stated to Recorder Rosgitur, she "purched him in the eye," and as this offense is against "the peace and dignity" of the matrimonial state, as well as against that of the commonwealth, it is probable that she will be called to an account. It is not fair, perhaps, to punish husbands too severely for the dereliction in the matter of choosing bonnets, for the "new woman" has come on the scene so suddenly that the unsophisticated masculne creatures have not yet had time to learn all the aris once considered feminaline.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

J. K. Emmett and company played to a full house at the operahouse last evening, the attraction being "Fritz in a Madhouse." The piece is without plot worthy of the name, and has little to commend it. Fritz Emmett was, of course, the center of interest, and his bubbling spirits, wit and vivacity, recalling the characteristics of his famous father, never failing of appreciation by the audience, and redeemed the piece from stupidity. The absurd situations form the chief merit of the slight thread of plot.

An exciting day's sport was enjoyed Thursday by a party of Pasadena young people who took part in a rabbit hunt at the Baidwin ranch. The start was made in the moreing with eight hounds belonging to Mr. Winston's pack. At noontime the luncheon was served at Hotel Oakwood, and the entire afternoon was devoted to the sport, whose net result was six long-carrd rabbits. The party included Misses Shoemaker, Hubbard, Margaret Greble and Lillian Dobbins; Messrs. Winston, Spaulding, Hastings and Hubbard.

Mrs. James H. Adams gave a charming luncheon at her residence on North Moline avenue, Wednesday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Carter of Chicago, who have been spending the winter in Pasadena, and who will soon leave for the East. The table was beautifully decorated with gold of Ophir roses, and the viands served were dainty and choice. The guests were Mmes. Wooley, Lewis, Carter and Pierce, Misses Campbell, Quay, Wilson and Carter.

Suit was brought in the Superior Court Thursday morning by Sarah J. Kenny sgainst A. L. Lincoln. The complainant alleges that the plaintiff and her husband. Alen Kenny, deceased, executed in 1892 deeds of all their real and personal property each to the other, and on June 1, 1892 placed them in escrow with the defendant, cashier of the First National Bank. That on July 13, 1894, Mr. Kenny died, and that on July 13, 1894, Mr. Kenny died, and that on July 13, 1894, plaintiff demanded the defendant to turn the deed over, or to file it for record, and that he then and has since refused to do so.

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE STREET TREE PLANTING.

Took the Oath of Allegiance—Ti Hall Minors—Minuet Club En-tertainment—Knights of Pythias—Locals.

SANTA ANA, April 5.—(Special Correspondence.) Under the caption of "Ou Street Improvements," the Standard this weeks says, editorially:

"The streets of Santa Ane present a lively appearance these days, and forcibly remind our people of the wide-awake, energetic enterprises of boom times. The work of paving the business portion of Fourth street is progressing rapidly, and will prove to be a permanent improvement that will be greatly appreciated by the people, and the business men of this city, who will liquidate the expense of this work are particularly to be commended for will prove to be a permanent improvement that will be greatly appreciated by the people, and the business men of this city, who will liquidate the expense of this work are particularly to be commended for their enterprise.

"The cost of paving is estimated at $2500 per block. Two blocks west of Main street are being constructed by the Los Angeles Paving Company, and two blocks east of Main street will probably be let to the lowest bidder, according to plans and specifications.

"The coment sidewalk just completed on the south side of West Fourth street for eight blocks out, is a thing of beauty and a joy forever. The same good work is going ahead with rapidity on North Main street, Bush and West streets. In fact, our citizens have the fever right royally, and propose to have good cement sidewalks in every direction. This is eminently proper, and not only adds to the beauty of our city but creates the impression upon visitors in our midst that we are progressive and enterprising, and will merit favorable comment THAT TREE ORDINANCE.

The sidewalk tree ordinance, to be voted upon next Monday by the residents of Santa Ana, is one that should receive the Santa Ana, is one that should receive the hearty support of every enterprising voter in the city. The ordinance provides for a uniform system for the pianting of shade and ornamental trees along the streets, the work to be done under the supervision of the Street Superintendent. This system carried out, if proper attention would be given to it, would certainly greatly improve the appearance of the streets, and would therefore be another progressive step in the line of public improvement.

He believes that this Linda Vista water system can be used supplementary to the Fiume system, to the advantage of the city of San Diego. Mr. Howells says concerning the city water question: "We feel that we have accomplished what has been asked of us. We have arranged for the irrigation of a large portion of the back country. We now stand ready to meet any other reasonable demand that may be made, even to the sale of the distributing system to the city, but it would have to be with a certain quantity of water attached. Our reason for this condition is plain. Our company purchased the distributing system in order to secure a sale of water and a revenue over and above the receipts along the line of the flume. This, is necessary in order to enable us to carry on our new plans with the Flume and the Mountain Stream Company. To cut off the revenue from the city entirely would be to delay at least the carrying out of our plans for the enlargement of irrigation systems."

This community is, to say the least, glad that the settlement of the matter is so near at hand, for the result will give the good people of Pomona and this immediate valley a rest for several years from this local strife, jealousies, tickerings, etc., usually consequent upon such local contests. Some Very Wicked Baptists—A Lec-ture on "Hell"—Petition in In-solvency—The Cyclers' Organization.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 5.—(Special Correspondence.) Petroleum has been discovered ooring out of the ground in the yard of N. W. Adams at No. 761 Fifth street, within four blocks of the business center of the city. The oil run down along the path fifteen feet and in digging down a few inches at the point where it appeared three small streams of oil flowed into the hole a foot in diameter. During the last rain oil flowed down the gutter of G street to Third and stood in pools. Other places near the residence of Mr. Adams have fully as strong indications of oil that is forced up to the surface by the heavy rains that have prevailed this winter. An expert in the oil business has examined the indications in Mr. Adams's yard and he is so strongly impressed with yard and he is so strongly impressed with the prospect that he has made an offer to sink a well on the spot entirely at his own expense, and operate it at his own expense, for three-fourths of the oil produced. It is probable that within a short time there will be a city of oil derrickal located right in the heart of the city, and that a boom will follow in real estate and all other departments of business.

than from $125,000 to $150,000."

"Where do you think the building will be located?"

"In some central part of the city where it will be convenient for a commercial and tourist hotel, on the line of an electric retiway, which will in all probability start from the Santa Fe and Sothern Pacific depots, running direct to the hotel. It is also expected that a dummy line will be attached so that trunks and baggage can be carried."

"How about the raising of the money to carry out this scheme?"

"The plan is to raise a cetrain proportion by subscription, and donate it to some person or persons who will supplement the amount, build the hotel and run it."

was found in a trash heap on Broadway.

The published statement that H. W.

was found in a trash heap on Broadway.

The published statement that H. W. Weinecke had $250 on his person when taken to the Receiving Hospital in this city for medical treatment led to his arrest when he returned to San Diego. Weinecke was formerly Tax Collector of San Diego county, and when it was reported that he had left the county with so much money in his possession, it was presumed that he was absconding with some of the public funds. A warrant for his arrest had been telegraphed to Sheriff Burr, but Weinecke had left for San Diego before he could serve it.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

As to the Site for the New Library. LOS ANGELES, April 4, 1895.—(To the the proposition to the voters supporting the proposition to the voters of Los An-geles of incurring a further bonded in-debtedness for schoolhouse and other nunicipal improvements, would it not be well for the Council to rise and explain municipal improvements, would it not be well for the Council to rise and explain certain unusual proceedings on their part?

Among the taxpayers of the city there are a number that are engaged in the various branches of building, comprising architects, contractors and material men, who have been observing these proceedings with no small degree of interest.

It is a universal custom in cities (and has been so here on all previous occasions) that whenever public imporvements, in the way of buildings, are contemplated, to invite free and general competition from the architects, thereby receiving the products of etudy and proficiency, and likewise minimizing the possibilities of collection and fraud.

In the present instance the public is informed from time to time that certain plans have been adopted by the Council, said plans having been prepared by the Building inspector, an official who is supposed to be busy in overlooking buildings in course of actual construction, and not engaged in designing libraries, falls, enginebrouses and school buildings.

I am led to express the foregoing comments from observing in today's Heraid a representation of the latest phantasy adopted by the truly artistic (?) Council designated as "Library." It is proposed to locate this architectural delirium in the beautiful square known as Central Park. Undoubtedly there will be a vigorous "kick" from residents in that vicinity, and in anticipation of that event I will suggest to the Council that they change the site to the riverbed.

Respectfully yours,

Man the Boot of Evil.

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—(To the Editor of The Times.) Permit me to join others in expre s'ng, through the columns of The Times my approval of the sentiments given by The Eagle on the "Scarlet Woman" in last Sunday's issue. The proposition which was put forth is the most practical, in fact, the only means, of ever destroying this monster evil. If we wish to destroy an evil, we must strike at the root of it. So with the "Scarlet Woman," man is the root of this evil. Reform him, and she will cease to exist.

Man claims to be stronger mentally, as well as physically, than woman, if so, he should be held the most responsible for this great evil, for with his asserted mental strength he should never sink to such low degeneracy. Respectfully, E. H. B. LOS ANGELES, April 4 .- (To the Edi-
